WEATHER IS PROMISING

City Residents All Set For Big Holiday Weekend

With the weatherman promising fair, warm weather, with just the odd thunder shower, Edmonton was all set Saturday for a big holiday week-end.

Summery weather set the stage for a real old-fashioned out-of-doors holiday.

Sports attractions galore will make possible a pleasant holiday for those unable to leave the city.

Thousands were certain to attend the annual Model T races at the Edmonton Exhibition Grounds and the Soap Box Derby for youngsters that is an added attraction.

This will be held on Monday, May 24.

FULL BASEBALL BILL
Baseball fans had a full bill-off at Renfrew Park, Kingsway and Clarke Stadium.

Official opening of all city golf clubs will take place over the week-end, featured by club competitions. Thousands were expected to motor to nearby lake resorts or travel by train. Railways reported heavy booking of tickets and berths for the week-end.

Miette Springs near Jasper and Banff, were luring many Edmontonians over the holiday week-end. It was revealed in both CNR and CPR bookings.

Extra coaches will be coupled on all regular trains leaving Edmonton on the week-end to accommodate holiday crowds.

Air lines were also receiving many requests for space as citizens planned long-distance visits to relatives and friends.

TO OPEN COTTAGES
Bus lines, practically back on full schedule after the lengthy spell of weather, are also preparing for a heavy rush of holiday traffic.

Many Edmontonians plan to motor to lake resorts and open beach cottages for the season.

Main roads to all beach resorts are reported good by the Alberta Motor Association with the exception of the road from Lacombe to Gull Lake and the road to Lac La Poudre. AMA officials advise that these two roads are still in poor condition although not impassable.

At least 15,000 residents of Edmonton are expected to be out of town.

New Move to End Jew-Arab Strife

Diplomatic Circles Intimate UN to Originate Action

By Alex H. Singleton
LONDON, May 22.—(AP)—Diplomatic sources reported today a new and important move will be made shortly within the United Nations to end warfare in Palestine.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Lewis Douglas, the United States ambassador, talked over the situation today, after American-British consultations in Washington.

Diplomatic officials said that was Britain's answer to still-informal American protests against an avowed British intention to stick by treaty obligations to supply Arab nations with arms "unless and until" the United Nations intervenes in Palestine.

Lewis Douglas, United States ambassador, called on Foreign Secretary Bevin to discuss the situation, it was announced.

REFUSED COMMENT
Though official sources refused comment, it was learned British officials here and in Washington have told the United States Arab-British relations must be maintained as a "great barrier against the flow of Communism to the south."

The foreign office acknowledged a steady exchange is going on between Washington and London in an effort to reach an accord on Palestine policies but said there has been no result.

One responsible source expressed such an agreement could be reached unless and until a stalemate in the Arab-Jewish war should enable the United States and Britain jointly to intervene. Even then, this source said, Britain would insist upon acting only in consultation with her Arab "allies."

BRITISH REACTION
British reaction to American support of Israel has ranged from alarm at mounting tension between the two countries over Palestine to indignation over a move in the senate appropriations committee to investigate whether American financial aid is being used to help Arab armies.

It declined to accept his advice, although later he found it necessary to impose compulsory service overseas.

He is survived by his widow, the former Nettie W. McLeod, and one son, Stuart B. Ralston, member of his father's law firm.

FINE WAR RECORD
The post was not strange to him. He had been defence minister in Prime Minister Mackenzie King's cabinet in 1926, and during the First World War he had a distinguished record as an officer in the field.

He was said to have been at times in disagreement with Gen. A. L. McNicoll, the head of Canadian forces in the United Kingdom and now Canada's permanent delegate to the United Nations.

Thorhild Man Dies In B.C. Accident

VANCOUVER, May 22.—(CP)—One man died instantly and two others escaped with minor injuries Wednesday when a truck carrying 10 tons of steel plunged 300 feet down a cliff at Tisdall, 57 miles north of Squamish on the Pacific Great Eastern railway, it was learned here yesterday.

Dead is William Kadvan, 22, of Thorhild, Alta.

Townsmen Nicholas Bawol, 23, driver of the truck, suffered scalp lacerations and a strained back, and Fred Dowhan, 20, sustained a fractured jaw, face lacerations and bruises.

He did not name the man and said that someone had been "messing around on a small scale."

It is expected municipal bridge crews will be at work very soon, to repair bridges on district roads.

IMPOSSIBLE JOB
"It would be entirely impossible for government crews to repair all the small bridges which were damaged recently, within a period of months," Mr. Monckman said.

He revealed there were at present 40 engineering crews, 12 gravel crushing outfits, 9 asphalt crews and 6 survey parties working on the province's main roads.

The number of road construction crews will be steadily increased as long as men and equipment are available," Mr. Monckman added.

CREWS AT WORK
Ward members of the past few days has permitted crews to go to work repairing flood damage, but the small bridges which were damaged up to this week had rendered it impossible for work to start, or for an accurate estimate of the amount of damage to be furnished, Mr. Monckman said.

RAIN AND HAIL IN SOUTH ALBERTA
CALGARY, May 22.—(CP)—Heavy thunder showers swept southern and central Alberta last night further setting back critically late seeding operations.

The rains followed by a brisk hail storm which touched the north part of Calgary. Storms at the airport were an inch and more in diameter.

SMALL PROSPECTORS FACE RUIN
Yukon Protests Mining Regulations

By Jack DeLong
WHITEHORSE, N.T., May 22.—The whole Yukon Territory is up in arms over Dominion mining regulations.

Not since the fabulous days of '88 has this vast mining territory been so stirred.

Mining is the life blood of the Yukon Territory but if Article 78 of the Yukon Quartz Mining Act enforced, prospectors will be out of business for good in the opinion of veteran residents.

HITS LITTLE MAN
Article 78 calls for payment to the Dominion Government of $300 for every claim so that claims can be officially surveyed by the four-post system of staking.

This will mean virtual ruin for the small prospector, the man who really finds the gold in the territory, it is contended.

Leading the fight against imposition of Article 78 is R. Gordon Lee, member of the Yukon Territorial Council for Whitehorse district and himself a former prospector.

Lee is chairman of the mining committee of the Whitehorse Chamber of Commerce.

Recently the chamber passed a resolution vigorously protesting enforcement of Article 78 and urging the Dominion government to pay the cost of four-foot mining claim surveys if such surveys must be made.

The resolution contended the four-post staking method is entirely unnecessary and points to B.C. where two-post staking is proving satisfactory. Both B.C. and

Operations of Ring Extensive

By Irving C. Whynot
SAINT JOHN, N.P., May 22.—(CP)—Police forces of two countries combined today in the job of smashing a widespread international black market in babies.

Drawn into the swiftly-spreading investigation were the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. New Brunswick's premier has asked the external affairs department at Ottawa for assistance.

Saint John police and children's aid officials said the ring's operation extended as far south as New York, New Jersey and Delaware.

Operations of the black market centered in Saint John, where boarding home served as a clearing house. Babies sold for as much as $1,500, most of them going to the New York and Newark, N.J. areas. Some children were sold twice. Twins brought a premium.

DEVELOPMENTS IN CASE
First disclosure of the ring, at a meeting of the Saint John City and County Children's Aid Society Thursday night, brought these developments:

1. Premier John McNair, also attorney-general for New Brunswick, said he had written the external affairs department in Ottawa of international angles involved.

2. An Ottawa source said the RCMP were stepping up their investigations, first started more than a year ago. In New Brunswick the RCMP operate under a contract with the provincial government and report to the attorney-general.

3. The children's aid society said it had reported the ring to the Canadian welfare council and the council, in turn, asked the FBI to check border-crossing infractions by persons in the black market ring.

4. Deputy police chief P. F. Bid-discombe of the Saint John city force said the ring's operations were first known more than a year ago and because of international complications, investigation was turned over to the RCMP.

HALIFAX, May 22.—(CP)—A Halifax man is under suspicion of illegally trafficking in babies from Nova Scotia into the United States. Fred R. MacKinnon, provincial director of child welfare said yesterday.

He did not name the man and said that someone had been "messing around on a small scale."

It is expected municipal bridge crews will be at work very soon, to repair bridges on district roads.

the Yukon are mountainous terrain and experience has proved the two-stake system superior in such cases, the resolution states.

GOVT. CONTENTION
The Dominion Government has contended two-post staking is leading to conflicting claims but veteran Yukon prospectors declare the four-post system will result in more overlapping and confusion.

Said Councillor Lee: "This is the hottest question in the Yukon today and will remain so until there is a drastic change in Ottawa policy."

"Prospectors who can barely keep themselves are asked to pay in advance from $200 to $2,000, depending on how many claims they have staked."

"Every claim is a liability until it proves commercial are possibilities. Ottawa seems to think the Yukon prospector is a man of wealth and considers a mineral claim an asset instead of a liability."

TOOL GRINDER MAY SETTLE DISPUTE

Baton Rouge Man Claims He Can Identify James

BATON ROUGE, La., May 22.—(AP)—Robert E. Lee, a Baton Rouge tool grinder, thinks he can settle the argument whether an aged Lawton, Okla., man is the famous outlaw, Jesse James.

Lee said he and Buffalo Bill Cody met the real James at the Chicago World's Fair in 1893 and learned then that the story of James' death in 1882 was a hoax.

"If I can see him and talk to him a few minutes I can tell whether he's the real man or not,"

Lee said. "I can tell by marks and scars on him and questions I can ask him."

The Lawton Constitution said two days ago it had "undisputed proof" that Jesse James is alive and Lawton. The newspaper said also that another man, not James, was killed in 1882 by Bob Ford, and that surviving members of James' gang agreed none of them would reveal their identities until they were older than 100 years.

Lee said he had worked for Cody's Wild West Show a day with Cody when James sought out Buffalo Bill in Chicago and identified himself by a scar on his arm. The Baton Rouge man said also that he had in his possession James' double-barreled axe. He said he would go to Lawton to interview the man claiming to be the Constitution as James if "anyone interested" would pay his fare.

5th-Graders Admit Theft of Airplane

Comic-Book Students Fly Aircraft for 120 Miles

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 22.—(AP)—Two Oklahoma fifth graders admitted last night they swiped an airplane and flew it 120 miles for a perfect landing—with comic books for instructions.

One of the lads, a 12-year-old Jimmy Hudard, a lawyer's son, dumfounded up behind a protective screen of relatives.

But his co-pilot, Ronnie Peterson, 12, sold all under patient questioning by Mather Eakes, aviation editor of the Daily Oklahoman.

"I want any trouble getting it started," declared the 85-pound Ronnie.

"There's a button with the word 'starter' on it... and of course we know about throttles and those things."

"KNEW ALL ABOUT IT"

The pair had selected a two-place Ercoupe model at the downtown airport here after playing hockey from school Monday and Tuesday. The plane has simplified controls and is advertised as simple to fly.

"Jimmy took her off... I flew her for 30 or 35 miles on it. Jimmy took over again and landed her."

"Jimmy had a book called 'How to Fly an Ercoupe' and said he knew all about it."

"The engine sputtered some just after we left the ground, but Jimmy said they always do that on a take-off. It ran all right the rest of the way."

"I was kind of scared. After a while I told him to land and let me out. We picked a field out and landed. The plane bounced about 15 feet but it didn't hurt it any."

"The field was just harrowed and a weed got stuck. Jimmy was going to take off again by himself, but that stopped it."

"They've got a horse... The boys rode about eight miles to the town of Cheyenne, Okla., where the Texas border, and were picked by a sheriff as runaways."

Yukon Protests
Mine Regulations

It was without consulting a solitary prospector.

"If Ottawa has any kids about conflicting claims why did the government not hire competent men in years ago to see that claims were properly staked before awarding them to the miners."

"Prospectors pay $10 for every claim recorded as is. The Ottawa government has taken the money and issued grants to the staker without even bothering to investigate that the claim is properly staked."

"The Ottawa officials are as anxious to encourage the claims in the Yukon as they claim to be why not spend a few dollars and survey these claims themselves."

The "little fellow" is still the backbone of the Yukon economy.

Article 78 should never have been invoked without Hon. J. A. Glen, minister of mines and resources first investigating the situation and consulting prospectors.

WANT FAST ACTION
That's what prospectors, mining men and Yukon businessmen are saying. They want action in a hurry from Ottawa. Many veterans of the last war will be chief sufferers if the new regulations are enforced.

Aubrey Simmons is president of the Whitehorse Board of Trade.

River Now Near Normal

Level of the Pembina river, which overflowed its banks about two weeks ago, covering thousands of acres of rich farmland and forcing several families from their homes in the Rosington and Manola districts, was near normal today.

Friday the river dropped nine inches at Rosington and is now about a foot above normal. It has dropped more than four feet since the first of the week.

The first time since the flood began, highway traffic is able to go through from Westlock to Hardisty by way of Rosington. The road is still covered by water at a few points, but is considered passable.

FLOOD LEAVES MARK
The flood, however, has left its mark in the districts.

Damage was done to buildings and homes by mud and water, a few cases of livestock losses were reported.

In addition, farmlands have been left under water. A lot of drift wood has also been left lying on the banks.

Last of the families forced to leave their homes in the two districts about 60 miles northwest of Edmonton, was expected to return home today.

Meat Strike Ends at Noon

CHICAGO, May 22.—(BUP)—The CIO United Packinghouse Workers' Union, ending the 68-day-old meat strike, ordered members to cease picketing at Swift, Cudahy and Armour meat packing plants throughout the nation at noon today.

The union announced that members voted to return to work Monday at those three firms but would continue the walkout against Wilson and Company plants.

The workers surrendered unconditionally to the packers, accepting the nine-cent-an-hour increase offered them by the firms before the strike began March 16.

The union strike originally for a 20-cent hourly wage boost. Later, demands to 12 cents. The companies, however, clung to their original nine-cent offer, and the union accepted the settlement.

On the recommendation of union officials, Wilson and Company employees voted to maintain the strike because that firm alone refused to arbitrate on whether strikers accepted of unlawful acts should be restored to their jobs.

The union announced that locals on strike against smaller independent plants would make individual agreements with those firms.

CANADA BUILT PLANES FOR RAF TRAINING

LONDON, May 22.—(CP)—A two-seater monoplane, designed and built in Canada, will be used to train the "week-end" fliers whose predecessors helped win the Battle of Britain in 1940.

The new aircraft, a Tiger Moth—used for training British commonwealth air forces for 15 years—will be supplanted in RAF volunteer reserve operations by the Chipmunk.

An official said the new trainer, designed and built by the de Havilland Company of Toronto, was called "Chipmunk" because "the chipmunk is a small Canadian animal and this is a small Canadian aircraft."

Indian To Be Tried For Murder Attempt

ST. PAUL, May 22.—Norman Jackson, 23-year-old treaty Indian, was committed for trial Friday when he appeared before Magistrate J. Petrie here on a charge of attempted murder.

Jackson will be tried in Edmonton, the next sitting of the Alberta supreme court.

Charge against the Indian arose from a shooting affray on Monday when Jackson's brother-in-law, 22-year-old Herman Cardinal, was seriously wounded by a 22 rifle bullet through the neck.

Object of a 36-hour manhunt, Jackson was arrested Wednesday by RCMP in the bush near Saddle Lake, about 90 miles northeast of Edmonton.

When arrested Jackson was unarmed and offered no resistance. Evidence tendered before Magistrate Petrie showed Jackson had loaded his rifle early Monday morning and following an argument between himself and his wife, discharged the rifle, sending a bullet into Cardinal's shoulder. The bullet left through the neck.

Four witnesses were called. Jackson is being conducted by Laval Fortier of St. Paul, while prosecution is being conducted by Cpl. Murphy of the RCMP detachment at St. Paul.

Air Recruiting Hits Good Stride

Recruiting at North West Air Command for the month of May is hitting a good stride and recruiting officers expect the total enlistments for the month to be well above average.

Enlistments for April, 1948, totaled 77, which is about average, but officers expected the number to reach 90 during May.

Many of those coming into the air force are re-enlisting while others are going in for the first time. Persons who have already served in the RCAF usually return to the air force because they are re-enlisting for the first time are sent to Trenton where they undergo training.

Applicants must meet ICAF standards if they have never served in the forces and must be between ages of 17 and 30.

Standards are considered high at present and officers feel that recruiting is more than satisfactory because of this.

Dewey Leads Oregon Vote

PORTLAND, Ore., May 22.—(AP)—Governor Thomas Dewey jumped into an early lead over Harold Stassen last night on initial complete returns from yesterday's Republican presidential primary elections.

The count from 146 of Oregon's 1,861 precincts gave Dewey 5,943, Stassen 4,930.

Dewey, as expected, was running up a heavy count in Portland and Multnomah county, which normally casts a third of the state's vote.

UP-STATE RACE CLOSE
Although the New York governor was ahead on scattered and inconclusive returns in 14 of Oregon's 36 counties, with Stassen holding a lead in six counties, the up-state race was close.

Dewey's Multnomah county lead when 146 precincts were represented was about two-thirds of his overall margin at that juncture. The count from 71 of the county's 513 precincts gave Dewey 2,583, Stassen 1,637.

Voters turned out in what appeared to be an all-time record number under the spur of the Dewey-Stassen campaign. In Portland they stood in line to vote on the Republican presidential preference.

Youthful City Rider Captures Top Honor

McDonald's Gold Flake, owned by Max Cristall, Edmonton, and ridden by his 13-year-old daughter, Tovah, won the Hudson's Bay Co. challenge trophy for the best novice saddle horse in the Edmonton Exhibition Association's spring light horse show.

Realtors Plan New Method

Establishment of a central real estate brokerage to expedite the turnover of city property was announced to a general meeting of Edmonton real estate men at the USO hall Friday.

The new firm will take listings of property from real estate agents to form a nearly complete central listing.

From this they will "farm" out listings to other agents, who may be better equipped to handle the particular type of property than the agent with whom it was originally listed.

In no case, it was explained by an Edmonton real estate man, will property be turned over to the new bureau without permission from the owner concerned.

When property is sold by the new agent with whom it is placed, he will take a percentage of the commission, the central brokerage will get a small slice and the agent with whom the property is originally listed will also receive a portion of the commission.

Mark Cummings, Edmonton real estate agent, was chairman of the meeting.

Professor J. W. G. MacEwan, Winnipeg, judge of the show, in placing the Edmonton horse at the top of the novice class, intimated it was the mastery ride given by the youthful rider that decided the award.

T. L. Brady of Calgary was a double winner, his Swanee, ridden by Miss Upner, took the novice saddle class exceeding 152 hands, and also gained major brackets with this horse in the American saddle horse class, was.

Miss Joy Patterson, Calgary, placed first in the saddle class, 142 hands, but not over 152 hands, with Honor Bright.

The C. H. Claggett family from Carcott Creek, Sask., won the family ride, and received thunderous applause for the more than 2,500 attending the show Friday night.

The family, consisting of father, daughter and four sons, were mounted on pinto horses and ponies. They were dressed in cowboy style. The team included twin boys aged seven.

Patrick Henry, from the Victor Sifton Winnipeg stable, won the lightweight hunter class despite loss of four points in the jumping test. He went to the top on confirmation and way-going.

In the knock-down-and-out competition, Gay Lad, from the H. L. Phillips Calgary stable took first money with the Lilla Gord Stables, Brandon taking second and fourth places with Paddy Boby and Bouncing Buster.

Aloha, owned by C. H. Chapman, Edmonton, and ridden by Nan Short, took third place.

EDMONTON'S ONLY five-gaited horse, owned by Max Christall, won top honors at Edmonton's spring light horse show at Exhibition Centre Friday night. Here the horse, McDonald's Gold Flake, is being worked by 13-year-old Tovah Christall, daughter of owner, who rode it to victory.

Judge Report Action Awaits Next Session

Implementation of the J. W. Judge report on provincial-municipal relations must await the next session of the Alberta legislature.

The report was compiled by legislative order of J. W. Judge, deputy minister of municipal affairs to enquire into the allocation of taxation between the provincial government, the municipalities of the province and the adequacy of the revenue thus obtained to fulfill the responsibilities also allocated.

It suggests a number of sweeping changes.

Included is a recommendation for increased grants from the province to take care of local welfare expenses and a suggestion crown commercial enterprises should either pay taxes or the provincial government should advance grants in lieu of taxes.

Mr. Gerhart recalled no amendments had been presented to the 1948 session of the legislature for municipal legislation, since the government had announced it was awaiting the Judge report.

The report was tabled during the latter part of the last session.

State Economy Doesn't Appeal

The National Purse Seems Far Removed From Pocket

By Forbes Rhude
Canadian Press Business Editor

A $10 bill in a man's pocket is something he can understand, but $670,000,000 in his national purse seems remote. That sums up the difficulty Finance Minister Abbott has in selling his anti-inflation program to taxpayers.

He told them in his budget speech Tuesday that they have all ready received virtually all the tax cuts that now can be made, and that every dollar he might put back in their pockets would reduce the value of all the other dollars they earn. So he uses his surplus to reduce debt.

Many think Mr. Abbott carried his argument too far and that further tax relief is needed. That will be discussed with some heat in the coming weeks.

In the meantime the minister has stated his case, and it largely concerns the amount of money in the country and the need for keeping it down until more goods are produced.

WEALTH IN GOODS
This is based on the principle that goods and not money are wealth; that the more money there is in relation to goods, the higher their price will be; with a corollary that the way to bring down prices is to increase production.

Last summer an economist, looking at the amount of money in circulation, predicted that the cost-of-living index would go to 150, which it has; and that it might, if care were not taken, head up again to 180 or more.

Mr. Abbott, along the same line, argues that the money he is withholding from taxpayers, is being taken out of circulation through reduction of government debt, thus holding down the money supply, and thus holding down prices.

Increase in money supply is illustrated by the statement that for every $2 Canadians had in 1939, they now have $5 which they put into competition for available goods. The peak total of more than $4,000,000,000 was reached in October, 1946.

It has been reduced comparatively little because, while the government has reduced debt, loans for industrial and other expansion have increased.

MONEY FROM PUBLIC
One other thing has been thrown into sharp relief, both by the budget and current thinking. Governments everywhere are being asked to spend more, and the money comes from the public. At the same time the average person demands a greater share in the wealth that is produced.

Special Bus, Railway Fares

Transportation companies have announced weekend specials for the first holiday weekend of the year.

Canadian Coachways Ltd. will run a special bus service to Alberta Beach. Specials leave bus depot Sunday at 8 a.m. and Monday at 9 a.m. Buses will leave Alberta Beach at 9 o'clock at night, returning to Edmonton at 10:30 p.m.

Other bus lines have announced special one and one-third fares for the long weekend, effective until Tuesday.

Sunburst Lines will run its regular weekend service to Ma-Me-O Beach, 28 miles west of Wetaskiwin.

Sunburst buses leave Edmonton at 8:14 p.m. Saturday, and return Monday morning. Sunburst weekend fares are one and one-quarter regular fare.

Railway companies have set one and one-third return fares for the holiday. Fares are good until Friday. No special trains will be operated by the railways.

To the present, neither governments nor individuals have arrived at any magic formula, nor know the end of the present road. Assuming society can go on to greater individual well-being, it is a matter which will require a lot of thinking by everyone.

The government's comment at this moment seems to be that aside from persons in favored circumstances, you can't have more than you produce no matter how many dollars you may have in your pockets.

Yet, the individual likes dollars.

Paving—Unfinished Business

The Edmonton Chamber of Commerce started the campaign for better streets in 1943. It should finish that campaign in 1948.

Back in the war year of 1943, the Chamber of Commerce realized that Edmonton's streets were falling into a disgraceful state of neglect. A special group within the Chamber was organized under the name of the "City Betterment Committee" and under the energetic chairmanship of E. T. Love it worked out a program of paving and improvement.

Extensive negotiations were carried on with the late Mayor Fry and the commissioners. And even though the war made manpower and materials hard to get, the city, under pressure of the City Betterment Committee, agreed to a paving program of $500,000 a year for ten years.

In 1946, the Chamber of Commerce revised that program and persuaded Mayor Ainlay to agree to a million dollars worth of paving each year for five years.

To get public support for its campaign, the Chamber of Commerce conducted a vigorous publicity drive, by press and radio, under the direction of a well-known advertising agency.

All this was an excellent and public-spirited piece of work, reflecting credit on the enterprise and community pride of the Chamber of Commerce.

But what has happened to the Chamber's campaign?

Far from the promised expenditure of a million dollars a year, the city spent only $573,000 on paving in 1946 and only $527,561 in 1947 and has planned to spend only $428,553 in 1948.

The City Betterment Committee of the Chamber of Commerce is still in existence. It is still a live and active committee.

The conditions of which it complained in 1943 are infinitely worse in 1948. In some sections of the city cars are being driven on sidewalks because streets are impassable. In some areas potholes are so deep that even in dry weather cars have to be pulled out of them by towing trucks.

What has happened that the City Betterment Committee does not demand a fulfillment of the promises made in 1947?

The Edmonton Bulletin, in calling attention to these facts, has done what any public spirited newspaper should do. It has taken up where the Chamber of Commerce left off.

But The Bulletin, after publicizing these facts, can do no more. It has fulfilled its function.

The rest is up to the citizens and organizations that realize what the present deplorable conditions are doing to Edmonton homes, Edmonton people and Edmonton's reputation.

The Chamber of Commerce in gathering statistics and making surveys and informing public opinion made a fine and valuable start.

But this campaign is part of the Chamber's unfinished business.

When does the Chamber of Commerce propose to finish it?

An Unfortunate Contrast

The postal department's offer to carry by airmail, after July 1, all letters addressed to any point along the route of Trans-Canada Airlines for the Pacific route of four cents is in somewhat unfortunate contrast to the refusal of the same department to deliver letters in the Grieson Estate.

This new plan is undoubtedly a notable advance in postal service in Canada.

Go to Church Tomorrow

Anyone with the slightest interest in religion should go to church tomorrow because tomorrow is Trinity Sunday and without some knowledge of the doctrine of the Trinity no one can understand the Christian Faith.

In this space on Saturdays we have frequently endeavored to give brief digests of some of the principle tenets of the Christian religion.

The subject of the Holy Trinity is much too vital and much too complex to be dealt with in a short article and in those lay terms which, at best, could only approach to an approximation of the truth.

It will give this country one of the fastest and cheapest mail services in the world.

There is no doubt that some astonishing ideas are held about the Person of God and the Person of Christ and the relationship within the Holy Trinity of the three Persons of God who are also one Person.

Since a knowledge of God is one of the important purposes of human life on this earth, we can only urge the attendance of our readers at their church tomorrow when the mystery of the Holy Trinity should be the subject of discussion.

Our Astonishing Empire Day Without an Empire

In the remote days of my youth, Empire Day was celebrated with much pomp and circumstance and the kind of oratory you could get your teeth into. In the days called "Empire Day" in that era, as I recall, but "Victory Day" in this era, it meant the same thing. There were torchlight parades and picnics and a lot of speeches and a barrel of beer flowing free and foamy in every self-respecting backyard.

There were fireworks, not the silly, pretentious kind that unfold in the likeness of a bathing girl, but the big red, fat ones that went off with a bang and a bang reminding everybody in vigorous and uncompromising noise that Britain is a power, never, never would be slaves.

I suppose there was a lot of baloney and a lot of bombast and a lot of humbug in those celebrations. But they were robust and sincere. And they meant something. I contrast them nostalgically with the flaccid interpretation put on Empire Day in this measly-mouthed age.

Indirect Approach

Now in this year of grace Empire Day falls on next Monday. In case you have forgotten it, I don't anticipate a great deal of interest or excitement because circumstances have extricated the festivities from its occasion.

In other words, we don't talk loudly about it. And that's the more. When we are moved to mention it, we refer to it cautiously in terms of legal reason using such bloodless and meaningless phrases as "Commonwealth of Nations" or some other high-sounding bludge that doesn't offend anybody's ears. Indeed, I am frequently struck by the painful similarity between the attitude of a man trying to talk about the Empire in these days and the attitude of a man trying to get into a blind pig during the age of the "mole experiment".

There are the same sidelong glances over the shoulder, the same peering up and down the street and the same hangdog expression of doing what I ought not to have done and there is no health in me.

What has happened to us? What has happened to the Empire?

Ill-Natured Propaganda

I don't suppose anybody is actually ashamed of the Empire. But the majority of us give pretty sickening imitation of being ashamed.

And the only reason I can find for this absurd point of view is that we are the victims of a flood of ill-natured and entirely false propaganda to the effect that the British Empire is an archaic and evil thing.

A very great many weak-minded and big-headed ninnyes have been busy trying to show that imperialism is the curse of the world.

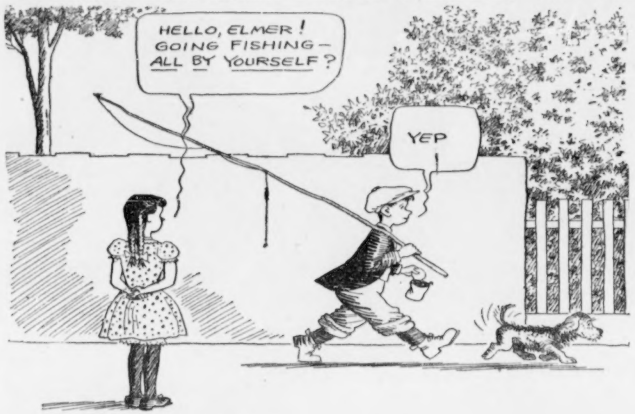

Certain highly-articulate reformers in the United States harped on it incessantly with reference to India and China. But you'd think that the predatory Britisher had poor old Mother India down on a bed of nails and was gouging her eyes out with a bayonet.

Muffling Telephone

Editor, Bulletin.—The two letters I saw in answer to Auntie Noyse were not helpful. I would like to advise Auntie Noyse that it is very easy to "choke" a telephone if you have the kind with bells on the top of the box.

All you need are two pieces of cardboard to put down the bell and you night or whenever you want to rest. If the bells are back behind you can leave one piece in all day.

If you have a cradle phone with bells on the top of the box you could cover it with a quilt or cushions.

St. George.

Or St. Pat?

Editor, Bulletin.—I notice a storm in a tea cup, blowing up about national music on St. George's Day, and notice a letter by "St. Pat," who evidently is Irish, patting all Irishmen on the back because the radio stations pollute the air with so-called Irish tunes, which in many cases were written by non-Irish and other brainy people, because they know the Irish are suckers for sentiment and will listen to them with a drink at their side and a tear in their eye.

We English know by heritage and are content to spend our national day without so much ballyhoo and can sing our old songs among ourselves and please Mrs. John Bull, no more complaints. It's only the inferior nations who have to keep their national dress and customs. We only have to say, I am English, that's enough.

Replies To

Gubbins

Editor, Bulletin.—I was surprised also disgusted reading "More Advice to Gubbins" by Nathaniel Gubbins. My surprise was that you would let such rot be written in your paper. I was disgusted by the way the writer criticized the English people. My advice to the writer is to get out of the fence and take a trip himself. Do you think that foreign cooking is better than English? Fighting, singing, snail-eating and all the other things that are so much a part of Great Britain will come out of the top of the head of the English people. As for the hotels employing foreign cooks, well it is only foreigners who live in the hotels, who only eat snails and frogs which crawl through muck and slime. Certainly a well cooked English dinner would kill them. They haven't got the stomach or health like the English people.

About English ins, they are the happiest in the world. If you are not snobbish you can have a happy evening with a good game of darts, and believe me, it is no childish game, or a good happy sing-song and very good fellowship being.

Also where in the world would you see good honest people coming out of the church on Sunday and going over to the local pub to have a glass of ale, living like human beings.

Also you can go from Scotland to England along the highways side lanes without getting one spot of mud on your clothes or boots. Everywhere is paved. The English people for that matter as I am Scot born and bred in Glasgow, but I take my hat off to the English people for their grit during those terrible times in war.

Before the war I was a hotel waiter in first class hotels, also I was a long distance bus driver from Scotland to England and Wales. During the war I was transport sergeant in the British army. I have been in France, Belgium, Dunkirk, West, South and North Africa, Italy. Just now I work in Edmonton with a bunch of fine people, so dear editor, don't let anyone use your paper when they are just sitting on a fence.

A university student charges you with trying to raise your circulation by pandering to leftist readers through Mr. Philpott. The Bulletin depended upon the minority leftists in northern Alberta for a great boost it would soon cease publication. I thought they taught elementary logic at the high schools of learning.

There are people like "University Student" who think that department has always been a good friend of the North. He understands this need, why do we not actively seek his support before he leaves the cabinet for other posts?

But the North people are a little wary of Edmonton's disinterest, already they are watching the North people for some projected some seventy miles north of Edmonton. We have a road in the North, the Gateway to the North, some of us are not asleep at the gate?

Yes, we need a committee working for a road to get the people into Edmonton. The North people are not asleep at the gate. We are using the people to do business with us. Let us show them we appreciate their business by co-operating in their struggle for the Whitecourt cut-off.

Selfish People Do Most Buying

Every once in a while you run into a philosopher who can look below the obvious surface of things and find some large, hidden truth.

It happened to me yesterday. Missed my bus into town and watched the cars go by. Most of them carrying just the driver. All in such a rush that they won't pull up for a passenger. Nothing is quite so discouraging.

Finally I fell into an old Hudson pulled in and offered a lift. As we went into town I let off a little steam and told my benefactor about being passed up.

"As a salesman, I'm glad to hear it," the man said to my surprise. "So long as people keep on being as selfish as they are, never worry about selling to them."

Been brooding over the handsome newspaper advertisement of Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Finance of the Government of the Province of British Columbia.

The ad has a fine big picture of Mount Garibaldi, under which are the brave words: "B.C.'s Economy Sound As The Rock of Garibaldi."

Couple of non-political fellows from the Alpine Club have been in to tell me that a large part of Garibaldi is volcanic shale and cracks falling away into the dark, forbidding valleys.

Another "First" For City Singer

Edmonton's Mona Paulee
Heard on Columbia Program

By Dick Sherbanuk

Mona Paulee, charming young Edmontonian now with the Metropolitan Opera company, brought another "first" to her home town recently.

The 31-year-old singer appeared two weeks ago on the Columbia Broadcasting System program "The New York Philharmonic," which comes on the air at 12 noon every Sunday.

Program is carried over CKUA, so perhaps some of you readers heard Miss Paulee's singing.

In case you didn't, Miss Paulee sang the female lead in a 16-minute English-language production, entitled "Catherine Parr," which relates some of the bickering that is supposed to have been carried on between King Henry VIII of England and his first wife.

Miss Paulee had the honor of singing the premiere performance of the piece, and she did splendidly.

"Catherine Parr" was written by Anthony Collins, who directed the CBS Symphony Orchestra for the occasion.

It represents what the CBS has called "the newest type of short opera—a cross between grand opera and opera comique."

Perhaps it was just human nature's dislike of something new, or the fact that opera singing in English always seems a little strange, but this column balked when it heard "Catherine Parr."

The controversy of "English opera—to be or not to be?" won't be entered into here.

But can you auditorially imagine Miss Paulee, in a rich mezzo-soprano voice, singing this passage?—

By the way,
If I am to be executed
I dare say
You will let me go
And pack up my things.

Annual banquet of Lyric Music and Dramatic Club was held recently at the Purple Lantern. Following the banquet, guests were entertained at the home of Mrs. R. W. McIntyre, past president of the club.

Presentations were made to Mrs. Peter McSporn, music director; Mrs. A. Howie-Carter, pianist; Mrs. A. Scott, president. Club members presented a gift to Miss Eileen Langley, who will leave shortly to take up residence in Vancouver.

Plaudits are deserved by members of the University of Alberta Mixed Chorus.

The Chorus, under its director Richard S. Eaton, of the Varieties Fine Arts department, had to cancel its Southern Alberta tour recently because of road conditions.

Rather than quietly fold their tents, the student singers went on a two-day tour of city schools, where they sang to veterans at the Colonel Newburn Pavilion.

An estimated 2,000 persons heard their program—and greatly enjoyed it, according to information received by this column.

Which set us thinking that perhaps the many Edmonton musical organizations which offer such excellent productions year in and year out might carry the idea a bit further.

Why not let school children, hospital patients, and others, appreciate the music which under present conditions only audiences able to gain admission to crowded auditoriums can hear?

Granted there are a lot of difficulties which would be encountered if such a scheme were attempted, the results would be worth the effort.

The school kids stayed voluntarily after school, to hear the Mixed Chorus. It's spring and they had the chance to go out and shoot marbles and play in the sun, but they were captivated by the student singers.

They would appreciate hearing either musical organizations just as much.

The cultural benefits the children would derive from such a

Large Family Gets Culprit Another Chance

For touching an "old friend" for $40 in worthless cheques, H. Pedun, Two Hills, was charged with false pretences in police court today.

According to evidence he passed off two cheques for $40 each as a city resident between March 15 and 17.

Pedun's lawyer claimed that the victim had known the accused for 20 years.

When Magistrate Simpson learned that Pedun had a family of five children he gave him a one year's suspended sentence on a recognition of $300.

THE MAKING OF AN INSURGENT

ENT—An autobiography, 1982-1919, by Fiorenzo H. La Guardia, 222 pages, Lippincott, $2.75.

This is a gently written autobiography, without the bitterness which is so characteristic of the "Little Flower." But none of the humor has been lost by the softness of the book's tone.

Fiorenzo H. La Guardia set down this story of his first 37 years during the last tragic months before his death. "The Making of an Insurgent" is the account of those tumultuous years, from his birth in 1882 until his discharge from the army in 1919, that would end one of the most notable contemporary politicians.

Son of an army bandmaster, La Guardia was born in New York, raised at Western army posts, and received much of his early education at American consular offices abroad. Even in those early years he was interested in the workings of American government as a result of reading The New York World.

He worked his way through law school, after returning from Europe, with jobs at the Ellis Island immigration service and the New York night courts. His first desire to fight the Tammany machine came after seeing its corruption in the courts.

Because he received such a large vote in his first, but unsuccessful attempt to become a Congressman, La Guardia was made a Deputy District Attorney. It was at this time, when his efforts to prosecute big corporations were failing, that his inherent desire for reform was greatly strengthened.

The book is at its best when La Guardia is writing of politics, which was his life's work. In these calmly told sections of the story, the great life-long battle he waged against any opposition to uphold his convictions, is clearly portrayed.

ASYLUM FOR "I. QUEEN. An historical novel, by Mildred Jordan, Borzoi, $3.50.

Here is an exciting and new historical romance by the author of "One Fidd Rose Forever."

This novel is based on a mysterious, and still unsolved episode in French-American history. The time is that of the French Revolution, the story that of a group of loyal aristocrats who plot to bring Marie Antoinette, Louis XVI, and the Dauphin from imprisonment in Paris to a Pennsylvania colony named Asylum, until they can return to France in triumph.

Portrayed with skill, are the last decadent days of the Bourbons; of amorous and political intrigues; of the Terror; and of the fantastic contrasts of a miniature Versailles amidst the New World wilderness.

Mildred Jordan has interwoven love, grandeur, excitement and intrigue into a thrilling story that always holds the reader.

THE COMMON CHORD, Short story collection, by Frank O'Connor, Alfred A. Knopf, $2.75.

Here are twelve raffish and irreverent tales that bring to intriguing life the whole world of a small Irish town.

The "common chord" is sex, and the author is interested in the action to which it drives people, rather than the suggestive or obscene.

Mr. O'Connor is one of the most talented, versatile, and prolific writers living in Ireland today.

Seldom solemn, always on top of the world, he launches his wild attacks on Puritanism with a shillelagh in one hand, a glass of porter in the other, and his eyes alight with a compassionate smile.

Your Radio Review

By Don Flach

By their programs and what we know them. Evidence of the program job being done for Canadian listeners by the CBC is seen in the awards won by the organization in the continent-wide competition conducted by the Ohio State University Institute of Education by Radio.

In the preliminary announcement of winners, the CBC was awarded four first prizes and two honorable mentions. The CBC won its honors in National Network categories in competition with programs from all American networks. CBC Wednesday night—a new programming venture in North American Radio—drew recognition from the contest judges who gave a first award to Lister Sinclair's radio adaptation of T. S. Eliot's play, Murder in the Cathedral.

First awards also went to the CBC for its presentation of The Case Against Cancer, a special documentary broadcast, and for Magic Adventures, a series of children's broadcasts originating in Vancouver.

The fourth first award went to a school broadcast produced by the CBC in co-operation with the Ontario Department of Education. Another school broadcast won honorable mention.

The CBC's Stage 48 added to its laurels when the American judges gave an honorable mention to the Flame of the Spirit, a play which dealt with racial prejudice.

The entire Stage 48 series was given credit for its high cultural and educational values in a major dramatic series which employs a wide range of production techniques, for encouraging original radio writing, and for presenting ideas in a mature and intelligent manner.

This Sunday Stage 48, (CJCA-7:00) will present Irwin Shaw's stage drama, The Assassins, adapted for radio by Andrew Allan. It is the story of the events surrounding the death of Darland. Leading roles will be played by Bernard Braden and Barbara Kelly.

In the other Sunday dramatic effort, Ford Theatre, the radio adaptation of A Star is Born is to be presented. It is the story of a girl who goes to Hollywood, and through charm, talent and a break becomes the dream girl of millions of movie-goers. Time 2:30 p.m. place CFRN.

Something that modern day parents might like to hear discussed will be heard on Town Meeting in Canada over CKUA.

More Edmonton talent is now being fed to the Western Canada CBC network. CKUA is now originating a half-hour broadcast by violinist Egon Grapentin and British baritone Randall Stevens, who recently came to reside here. Time of broadcast is 6:30 to 7:00 Monday.

Comic pages are taking to the airwaves in Edmonton. On a Sunday morning program, Kiddies Korner, announcer Andy Phillip of CKUA is going to give the kids their comics over the air. Other new children's programs being broadcast at CKUA are Allen and Me at 3:00 Sunday, and Land of Let's Pretend by Molly Make-believe.

The drive for the Crippled Children's Fund goes on. The CFNR Bar Dance has taken over the tour of the towns where the Search for Talent left off—also under the sponsorship of the Associated Commercial Travellers. For the Turkey in the Straw fans one-hour of the four-hour dancing program provided in each of the towns visited will be broadcast over CFNR starting at 9:00.

For the Saturday night post-midnight doldrums CFNR is undertaking an extra hour of broadcasting conducted by up-and-coming announcer Jerry Wiggin.

Jerry has an interesting angle developing which should make good listening for those that want to keep their radio tun between midnight and one a.m.

Visit of Viscount Alexander of Tunis to Vermilion will be broadcast over CFNR if present plans are completed. Arrangements are to carry a broadcast from the civic dinner at 1:15 and the dedication of the memorial hall at 8:00.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

Forgiving — And Forgetting

The story is told of a little boy who was stung by a bee while playing in the garden of his home. He killed the bee, and then took it in the house and put it in a bottle. Thereafter he would tell everyone: "Whenever I look at this bee, I can just feel the sting it gave me."

For a while the little boy's friends were amused, but they soon got tired of seeing him come with his bottle. Just as tired as all of us get when somebody tells us over and over: "He did me an injustice. I forgive him—but I just can't forget how he hurt me."

One cannot but question the sincerity of a person who "forgives" injuries, but apparently is not willing to forget the wrong that has been done him or the hurt he has suffered.

The true Christian is not only ready to forgive the hurt caused by another, but is eager to banish all memories of the wrong. Perhaps he can never entirely forget what he has suffered, but at least he never indulges in self-commiseration or wishes to relive his sad experiences.

This is far from true of those persons who forgive with the tongue, but in their hearts store up recollection which only too often serve as weapons of retaliation when the one who has offended them is guilty of injuring them again. Such an attitude is not only harmful to the injured person, but in the end convicts him as a greater sinner than the one who offended him.

In God's eyes, all men stand in need of forgiveness. "If thou, O Lord, shouldst mark iniquities, who shall stand it?" The forgiveness of God, however, is always perfect, provided contributions sincere and the will to amendment is firm. Men may justly rebuke those who offend them, even as God rebukes the sinner, but they may never refuse a full pardon to the repentant.

Who dares ignore these words of the New Testament: "Then came Peter to Him, and said, Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? Till seven times? Jesus saith unto him, I say not unto thee, until seven times; but, until seventy times seven." (Mat. 18: 21, 22).

New Bible Church First In Canada

The first Bible Presbyterian Church to be started in Canada will dedicate its new building to the glory of God next Friday, May 28 at 8 p.m.

Opening services will follow Sunday, May 30 at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The full ministry of the new church will be inaugurated by two weeks of special services each night except Saturday at 8 p.m. from Monday May 31 to Friday, June 11. A complete Sunday School will open June 13.

This is the first unit of the church being built by the congregation at the corner of 92 street and Jasper Avenue. It will be the only Protestant church located on Jasper Ave. The present building will eventually form the Sunday School assembly hall of the completed church. The congregation plans to build the church edifice later.

SHOWS RAPID GROWTH
The Bible Presbyterian Church though in existence for only 12 years has increased from 3 to over 70 churches and is growing steadily. Edmonton has the first in Canada. It's re-statement of faith in the inspiration and infallibility of the Bible supported by highly trained ministers who are graduates of both University and Theological College together with expository preaching of the whole Bible including prophecy has brought wide support.

The Rev. H. D. Stoddard, minister of Beulah Tabernacle, will give the main address at the dedication 8 p.m. Friday. The minister, Rev. R. Allan Killen will preach at both opening services Sunday, and the weeknight meetings will be divided between three local ministers, H. D. Stoddard, J. W. Georgeson and R. A. Killen.

A warm welcome is extended to all by the members of the new Church to come to these opening services.

GEMS FROM SWEDENBORG:
The idea of God enters into the all things of the Church, of religion and of worship, and these ideas are the basis of the highest matters reside above all others in human minds, and if the highest parts therein is the idea of God. Wherefore, if it be false, all things which follow are false or faltered—for the highest, being also the lowest, constitutes the very essence of all things derived from it and the essence like a sun forms them into a body after its own image; and, in its essence, it lights upon truth, it infects them with its own blessed and error—B. New Atlantic Derricks Up

Derricks for the directional relief wells at Atlantic Leduc No. 3 are erected ready for the rigging up of the draw works and other equipment. The new wells will be west and south of the original well which is now producing an estimated quarter of its output through the drill pipe.

Directional wells will be drilled at an angle to tap the pressure of the D2 and D3 zones near the source of the oil and gas now flowing from the flusares around Atlantic No. 3. Drilling of the holes will require more than the average time for a normal hole in the field and will probably take about six weeks.

Some oil from the pits was forced into Atlantic No. 1 on Friday. A previous effort to do this failed because the pressure in normal production was too high. This will be the anniversary of the breaking of the Canadian line, and the story of that tragic and heroic day, in which Edmonton played a large part, will be told.

WATER CONTROL
Water flooded from Imperial Leduc No. 48 will be the next major effort to control the well. This will be attempted as soon as the Imperial hole has been deepened from 122 to 123 zone to permit flowing both the field's major sources of oil. Practically all the oil, but only a small portion of the gas, will be its origin in these two Devonian structures. Gas in some quantity is also being produced from the Sands which are a Cretaceous formation about 3,500 feet down.

First, water will be drawn in from the lower Cretaceous. Although no commercial production has been taken from this zone in the Imperial field, it contains traces of oil and little or no gas. D2 zone is found at between 4,500 and 5,000 feet, and is the bottom of the 5,300 foot hole.

The upper structures and their production of gas and oil are considered relatively unimportant when compared with the lower zones, from which commercial production of oil is obtained. The loss of gas from these zones is more serious, as it is the gas which can be recovered at the surface, but the gas and the pressure it represents is lost to the field. The loss of oil is obtained. The loss of gas from these zones is more serious, as it is the gas which can be recovered at the surface, but the gas and the pressure it represents is lost to the field. The loss of oil is obtained.

The farmers whose lands have been sprayed with oil from the well are finding that Leduc crude is not an efficient weed killer. Tough grass and weeds are still a problem to the farmer. It is reported to be showing green on parts of the oil soaked ground south of the well.

Imperial's Volmer wildcat was last reported coring at 5,800 feet. It is understood that this hole will be drilled down to 6,500 feet regardless of production possibilities further up. The rig will then be moved to a new location west of the present one, according to current rumors.

Imperial K-2 is coring at 7,197 feet. Tesaco-McCall Calmar No. 1 indicates that the hole is reaching the top of the D3 zone at 5,348 feet. The D3 zone was lacking at the location west of the town of Calmar.

Livestock
EDMONTON, May 22.—Total receipts for this week were 1,307 calves, 331 hogs, 3,122 sheep, 17. Trading was active throughout the past week on the livestock market, with prices fairly steady to strong on good quality butchers and 25 cents per cwt. higher on medium grades. Receipts were light, with very few good to choice cattle on offer. All offerings moved pretty well, being well cleared up in a brisk and lively market. One small lot of strictly choice weighty steers, 18-20, feeder hogs, 12-14, and choice butchers heifers sold mostly at 16.50-17.50. The cow market held fairly steady with good light selling at 13.00-13.50, and light heifers 14.50-15.00. Bulls were 10.00-12.50.

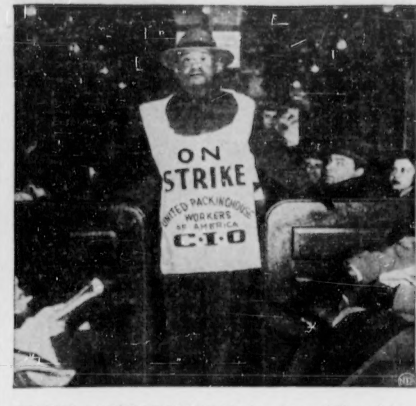

Note: Monday, May 24, stock prices for the week ending May 24. Turnover for the full two-hour session ran to around 700,000 shares, a far cry from last Saturday's sensational 2,500,000 shares.

Canadian issues were irregular. Dome Mines advanced 1/2 and Dispersed Securities 1/4. Canadian Pacific and Hiram Walker each yielded 1/4.

Minor Demand Affects Coarse Grain Prices

WINNIPEG, May 22.—(CP)—Oats and barley sales of a pre-holiday nature dominated trade on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. There was some minor demand by processors but values declined.

The May rye, after advancing the maximum two-cent limit in early dealings, ran into selling and recorded a two-cent loss to close at $4.78. The selling was attributed to rumors of cancellation of a small export contract in the May future which opened the way to freer offerings. The other months declined sympathetically.

There was no export business in wheat to the U.K. Class two wheat prices remained unchanged while the Durum spring wheat was advanced 10 cents.

C & E Directors Intend To Resign
LONDON, May 22.—(CP)—The directors and secretary of the Calvert and Edmonton Land Company decided to resign, the Financial Times reported today, following defeat of a resolution submitted to an adjourned extraordinary meeting of the company Friday.

The resolution, originally submitted April 6, provided for acceptance of an offer by the Security Assets Corporation to purchase the shares of the land company's outstanding agreement for sale of land and its plant and equipment for $22,312.

The present directors are Viscountess Grey, George Craddock-Hartopp and S. P. Casserley. Casserley also acts as secretary.

Road Conditions Hit Deliveries
OTTAWA, May 22.—(CP)—Road conditions and farming operations continued to keep livestock deliveries in moderate supply, the Dominion agriculture department reported today in its weekly livestock report.

Toronto weighty steers made up to $19.75 and butcher steers rated as high as $19.25, and some good quality stockers up to $17.75. At Montreal good steers were weighed at $16.50-$17.50, and good butchers at $18.50-$19.50.

Country loadings were reduced in the west, with poor road conditions and late shipments. At Winnipeg the best of the slaughter steers moved out at $18-$18.75, and good quality stockers and feeders from $12.50-$15. Moderate receipts were the order at other centres.

Calgary paid a high bid for some top steers, with good to choice generally $17 - $18.25. Edmonton $17.50-$18.50, Prince Albert $18.25, Moose Jaw $18, Saskatoon up to $17, Regina $18.25.

Dairy cattle exports to the United States for the week ended May 20 totalled 2,374 head as against 1,508 in the same week last year. This brings the total to date this year to 30,712 as against 16,533 in the corresponding period a year ago.

A further recession in calf prices occurred in eastern markets. Toronto closed down $1 at $21-$22, and at Montreal most good veals sold at $18; Winnipeg fairly steady with best veals $18-$20; Calgary paid up to $19; Edmonton $18.50-$19.50; Prince Albert $18; Moose Jaw $18; Saskatoon up to $20; Regina $20.

Upswing Absorbs All Profit-Sales

Bull Market Not Yet Admitted; Golds, Oils Toronto Features
By The Canadian Press
TORONTO, May 22.—(CP)—The upward movement of the stock market was under attack this week, which it weathered in fair fashion with the issue still undecided.

One view is that the advance since mid-March has been a correction of low prices, prevailing more than a year, and that future gains will depend upon how well business prospects hold up.

On the other hand it is difficult to say just what is the proper degree of recovery required to bring about a real recovery. Chartists see existence of a bull market, but it apparently is not one to run away on sheer exuberance, and masses of traders are stepping in to take profits.

If there is a body of solid buyers who will take the prevailing conditions for the next year or more, then it is likely that the price will advance. The prevailing up and down movement of establishing a good floor under current prices which could set the stage for another substantial advance.

DROP AT NEW YORK
The week started with a continuation of the preceding week's upward wave, but considering the enthusiasm which seemed to prevail, Monday's advance was relatively modest. Tuesday brought an abrupt break, and the market has been subject to alternate gains and profit-taking since, but has managed to end each day with some average recovery.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite in New York dropped an overall 3 to 7.2 in the five days trading, but this is a gain of 5 since Tuesday and continues around the high mark since August 1929.

In Montreal papers and gold made the best advances, peaking at 3.07 and gold 3.72. Banks gained 1.1, industrials 2.7, combined 1.8, and utilities were down. Industrial volume was 661,507 shares and mines 1,611,366.

THRILLING FINISH of last year's jalopy race is expected to be surpassed this year when the lizzies "turn on the heat" in Lions Club show May 24.

Lions Club Prepare For Record Crowds

All is in readiness for the Edmonton Lions club's seventh annual Model T race meet to be held at the exhibition grounds Monday.

Indications are that another large crowd will attend the yearly auto classic but should the usual warm breezes and clear sunny skies prevail, attendance records should go to the boards.

BEST MEET EVER

"This year's event will be the best ever" according to race marshal Gordon Smeltzer. "If we get a break in the weather I'm confident we'll shatter all previous attendance records. We base this belief on the fact that there has been more pre-race enthusiasm than ever before," he added.

More than 10,000 spectators witnessed last year's exciting performance which included several minor crack-ups.

The smallest attendance ever recorded, according to officials, was 9,000, with the highest figure numbering 15,000.

A great deal of care has been given to see that the track is in best possible shape. Corners have been boarded and the dirt oval graded and rolled.

The afternoon's entertainment is scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. Public will be admitted from 12:30 p.m. on.

SCHOOLBOYS' BAND

In-between-event entertainment will be supplied by the Edmonton Schoolboys' Band, under the direction of T. V. Newlove.

Official judge for the races will be Lion Jim Kellas. He will be assisted by M. S. "Dirk" Thomson, Elmer Logan and Doug Thomson. Gordon E. Smeltzer will again be race marshal as well as one of the three race referees. The other race referees will be Maurice McNair and Gar Lash.

Concession stands will be in charge of Don Ferguson.

Wilson Faulder, president of the Lions Club, said his organization was looking forward to the largest attendance in history and all was in readiness to make the affair the most successful ever.

GORDON SMELTZER, well-known Edmonton businessman and member of the Lions club, who will be race marshal for the Model T derby being held at the Exhibition Grounds Monday.

Dare-Devils Show Skill and Pluck

Model 'T' Derby Calls For The Best Driver Has in Him

Dare-devils of the dirt track—22 of Alberta's finest—will display their driving ability at the Lions Club's seventh annual Model T Derby to be held at the exhibition grounds Monday.

The thrill-a-minute classic which is considered one of the major sporting events staged annually in the city, promises to be the best in the history of the event and an all-time high in attendance record is anticipated.

Chief interest will be focussed on Tommy Villettard, at the wheel of the Dittich Men's Shop entry. The Edmonton "lin lizzie" king has won four previous race meets and has twice held the Alberta title.

FOUR TIMES WINNER

He will be seeking his fifth win Monday and while he is expected to encounter his stiffest competition to date, odds are that he'll again come down in front.

Stan Reynolds of Wetaskiwin, son of the famous driver "Ted" Reynolds who thrilled thousands of racing fans in the old western Canada circuit days, is expected to offer stiffest competition. He will be driving Derry's Jewelry entry.

A previous winner in the Derby "Con" Heighington is also expected to finish close up. He'll be handling the Medico Welders' "bug" and there are plenty of folks who believe he will cap the glory Monday.

Jimmy Erb, Frank Taylor, Al Brown and Eric Clarke, the Calgary quartet, Tommy Fraser from Standard and Edmonton's

Gavin Breckinbridge are also conceded title chances.

All the drivers possess the skill and nerve to pilot their respective "bugs" around the dirt oval at a speed of 50 miles-per-hour or more and they'll be pushing the gas pedal to the limit in hopes that their "lin lizzie" will carry them to Model T derby fame.

STANDARD MODELS

According to Lion officials the cars entered are not "souped-up jobs." In order to qualify for a prize a car must be strictly a standard Model T and winning cars are taken to a local garage and torn down to see that they have complied with the regulations.

Considerable credit for making Model T races possible goes to the boys who build these "bugs" applied Recorder Leonie Plante.

According to race marshal Gordon Smeltzer.

"They do a tremendous amount of work in order to obtain the maximum amount of efficiency from the old motors. Many of these old cars will go as fast as 70 miles-per-hour on the highway," he said.

All cars entered in the race must be registered and have 1948 license plates.

UNUSUAL PLEA

MONTREAL.—(CP)—A bookie on arraignment in the Recorder's Court here did the unusual when he pleaded guilty. "I beg your pardon," said the City Attorney Rene Leblanc. "Guilty," repeated the accused. "He pleads guilty."

Your Honor," said perplexed Leblanc. "Well, that is his right," the boys who build these "bugs" applied Recorder Leonie Plante.

"Jalopy" Drivers Annual Classic

Twenty-Two Contestants Seek Top Honors and Good Prizes

Monday will be Model T Derby Day. Twenty-two of Alberta's top ranking "jalopy" drivers will go to the post in the Edmonton Lions Club's seventh annual Empire Day classic.

The event which promises to supply plenty of thrills, chills and spills for the thousands who are expected to attend, will be held on the half-mile race track at the exhibition grounds.

More than $1,500 in prizes, silver trophies and gold watches will be at stake. Of the 22 "tin lizzies" dare-devils competing, nine are from out-of-town. Calgary will field four "bug motorists," the township of Standard will be represented by two drivers while Red Deer and Wetaskiwin will each have a sole entrant.

Three open events and one grand championship classic will feature the afternoon's entertainment.

In the open events, the drivers will be expected to "manoeuvre" their respective "jalopies" around the oval track in 15 laps, or over a distance of seven and one-half miles.

The main event will be a 12½-mile trek or 25 laps around the dirt oval.

Winner of this event will be declared northern Alberta Model T champion, and will be awarded a cash prize of $200, the Hudson's Bay Company trophy and an engraved gold watch, donated by the Western Carriage and Storage Ltd.

Runner-up in the event will receive $100 in cash, with show position carrying off $75 and fourth place finisher being awarded $50. Winner of each of the three open events will receive $150 and a gold watch. A cash prize of $75 will be awarded to runners-up in each race. Drivers finishing third in each classic will win $50, with fourth places carrying off $35 awards.

In addition to the four main racing events in which the "jalopies" will compete there will be a soap-box derby for youngsters.

As in the past, Lion Jimmy Graham, well-known Edmonton sportsman, will be in charge of the "foot-powered" motorists. This added attraction will be limited to youths of 12 years and under.

The "soap-boxers" will compete for $50 in prizes including many valuable prizes in the form of sporting goods.

Festivities are scheduled to get under way at 1:30 p.m. although the race track will be open for public admittance at 12:30 p.m.

WILSON FAULDER, president of the Lions club who reports that members of his organization are all set for what they believe will be the most successful Model T race meet in the seven-year history of the event.

TOMMY VILLETARD, Model T race king, four times winner of the annual Empire Day classic who will be out to cup his fifth victory in Monday's "Tin Lizzie" derby. Tommy also held the Alberta title for two years.

THE LOOKS SHE GOT! WELL, IT'S NATURAL

LONDON, May 22. — (AP) — Reporter Joan Reeder wrote in the Daily Mirror Friday she wore her nightgown to the Paris opera and that Princess Elizabeth and the other customers never knew the difference.

Joan, 25, was sent to Paris on short notice last week to report the visit of Elizabeth and Prince Philip. She got an unexpected invitation to the opera, but had no evening gown.

She wore instead a pink-and-black nightgown with a bare midriff. It being Paris, no one noticed.

"There were new looks everywhere but the looks I got were the most old-fashioned in the world," she commented.

"And should your earning power become impaired, this policy pays the premiums on all the other policies!"

SYDNEY, Australia—(CP)—A Scottish-born resident recently received the shock of his life. Although having lived here some time he retains a heavy accent which his young son sometimes finds hard to understand. One day the exasperated youngster told his father: "If I were prime minister I'd stop all you foreigners coming into the country."

CAPTAIN BOYCOTT is name of exciting movie opening Monday at Rialto. It stars Stewart Granger and Kathleen Ryan and will run for four days. A technicolor film of Royal wedding presents is also featured.

MUSICAL ROMANCE featuring Dan Dailey and Jeanne Crain will open at the Empress theatre Monday. Dailey has the reputation of being one of the best tap dancers in Hollywood and will thrill all with his performances in "You Were Meant for Me."

Hollywood Film Shop

By Bob Thomas
HOLLYWOOD.—(AP)—Orson Welles, visiting briefly from his current base in Rome, paused long enough to declare he is "the most attacked figure in theatrical history."

The show business Jack-of-all trades flew into town to dub music and various screams and wined noises into his film version of "Macbeth." He looks unlike the traditional Welles, appearing slimmer than usual and wearing a neat, tweed suit and a well-trimmed haircut. But he is as busy as ever with various projects, including retakes here for the Roman-made "Capitolo."

Orson Welles

Finding him in an expansive mood, I asked if he would ever be able to shake the title of "self-styled genius."

"Isn't that amazing?" he reflected. "I have never termed myself a genius, nor has anyone else. I can show books of clippings, one of which says I am a genius. And yet

I have reams of articles aiming to deny that I am a genius."

Welles then made his assertion he is the most attacked man in theatrical history. "And I don't know why," he said.

PENDULUM SWINGS BACK
"The pendulum is swinging back in England," he remarked. "They used to hate me over there. But now I am one of the biggest box office stars. The funny thing about it is that I have become popular there not for my good pictures, but for some of the claptrap I have been in."

The situation is different in the United States, where Welles says his popularity ranks with that of Johnny Weissmuller. "I never expect to be acclaimed in my own country."

Orson said he enjoys making films in Italy, because of the freedom. Far removed from the desk-bound general of Hollywood, he can create as he pleases.

Veterans Storm Saskatoon City

Governor General to Open Big Legion Convention

SASKATOON, May 22.—(CP)—This central Saskatchewan city will surrender without a struggle today to nearly 1,000 Canadian war veterans.

They're storming the city from all sides, in preparation for the 12th national convention of the Canadian Legion, to be formally opened Sunday night by Governor-General Viscount Alexander.

Objective in this combined operation is war-borne headaches, still plaguing many of the Dominion's thousands of veterans of two major wars. For five days delegates will study every conceivable veterans' problem and piece of veterans' legislation.

Viscount and Lady Alexander arrive today to visit the city before the convention opening tomorrow, when the governor-general will take the salute at a mammoth parade of veterans and military units.

His guard of honor will be picked from a motesquad of 500 Saskatchewan veterans.

Business starts Monday morning, after the formal opening and performance of the Legion's impressive remembrance ceremony in which its members pay their tribute to the dead of both wars.

The week's business includes election of a new national president, and it is understood that Maj. Gen. C. B. Price of Montreal will not seek re-election.

Delegates are expected to press for action regarding establishment of a veterans' benevolent fund from the several million dollars of wartime profits from military contracts. The Legion has intimated that it should administer the fund, now held in trust by the Veterans Affairs Department.

FOR CONSIDERATION
Also to come before the convention:

1. Whether to admit draftees with overseas service to Legion membership. The last national convention—at Quebec in 1946—barred them.

2. Proposals to tighten up the Legion's ban against Communists within its ranks.

3. A renewal of attempts for extension of benefits under the War Veterans' Allowance Act.

4. Discussion of housing, pensions and veterans' land settlement.

It is also expected to endorse the housing brief the Legion submitted recently to the federal government, asking a graduated scale of rentals for government-owned housing projects.

Rotarian Tribute To Former Member

Tribute to former Rotarian Leonard Henson who died last Monday was paid at the meeting of the Club held Thursday in the Macdonald hotel.

Mr. Henson had been a member of the Club for the past two and one-half years.

Six new members were introduced to the Club at the meeting. They were Phillip Pon, Leslie A. Nickola, J. A. Rodd, John V. Rule, Neville Steers and William H. Whitaker.

Among the visiting Rotarians attending the meeting were W. S. Ziegler of Hanover, Germany and H. H. McNeil of Toronto.

Following the meeting members went to the Mayfair Golf Club for an afternoon of golf.

Ted West was chairman for the day.

He Wants a Trade, May Learn in Pen.

He wants to learn a trade—he's getting the chance, but he has to spend two years and six months in jail to become a tradesman.

William Nelson, 30, Winnipeg, pleaded guilty to two charges of housebreaking and one of theft in court today.

When asked if he had anything to say he said he wanted to learn a trade and rehabilitate himself.

The magistrate gave him his chance—two years and six months at Prince Albert penitentiary on each housebreaking count and one year for theft, the terms to be concurrent.

The accused broke into the home of Howard Crossman, Edmonton, last May 5 and stole four shirts and a pair of trousers.

On May 8 he entered the home of James Chetler, Edmonton, and made off with a mantle radio and a silver tea set.

On May 13 he bought a radio through a finance company and then sold the radio before completing payments. He was charged with stealing the radio.

Disappearing Inkwells Is an Unsolved Mystery

FAST PROGRESS MADE IN PAVING

Rapid progress is being made on the paving on 124 street from 102 to 118 avenue. It is anticipated this project will be completed by the end of next week.

The concrete base on the centre strip has been laid, and work on the asphaltic surface will start on Monday.

When this work is completed the paving of the cross-valley road from the 109 street intersection with Saskatchewan Drive to the McDougall hill will be started.

The Case of the Disappearing Inkwells has never been solved.

It's just one of the mysteries dealt with almost every day by Roy Keeler, 11837 90 street, weighing-wicket clerk at the Edmonton post office.

Part of Mr. Keeler's duties consist of keeping the desks, inkwells, and other writing paraphernalia in the post office lobby in good shape and supply.

Take the Case of the Disappearing Inkwells. A short time ago, Mr. Keeler noticed that every few days an inkwell would disappear from the lobby, and reappear empty on one of the desks several days later.

Presumably the "picks" who removed the inkwells were concerned with using free post office ink, but their honesty in returning the empty wells was almost enough to restore Mr. Keeler's faith in human nature.

Blotters, though, are another matter. They disappear regularly, and for good. Schoolkids are usually the culprits, taking the blotters to assist in keeping anatomy fingers and notebooks clean.

PENS GO FAST

Pens are also snaffled frequently. About 10 per week vanish from the post office lobby. Just what the post office lobby. Just what the post office lobby. Just what the post office lobby.

Holiday Week-End
Leans to Light Menus

By Bea Thrifty

Warm sunny days mean take-it-easy days. And this is the very first week-end of the season that housewives can content their hungry families with light, easy-to-digest salads, cold meats and frothy, cool desserts. Salad greens are still too high for very much concentrated salad dieting—but it makes a wonderful treat.

One of the many disappointing features about the new Dominion government budget is the retention of the sales tax on so many items—that I fail to see as luxuries.

But on the other hand—when there is little we near parents can do about the situation at the moment—we might just as well look at the bright side of the picture.

Tax has been removed from "substantially" all food items not now exempt—such as canned, frozen or dehydrated fruits and vegetables, also jams, jellies and marmalades. It is not a matter of appreciable difference for some time—and the change will be so gradual that we will hardly notice it.

The one outstanding factor will be the reduction of a few prices when all other prices are so busy being raised.

The lifting of the 25 per cent sales tax on retail purchase of all-weather cutlery is a boon to the newlyweds setting up housekeeping—but it's little comfort help these days of housing shortages and austerity provisions.

Making merry plans for May 24? Do so with a light heart and an unconcerned soul at ease. You can have a salad—and a cool, frozen dessert in the forenoon. Toss out the cheese and cracker tray and you're away into your holiday feast.

You know all about chocolate chip cookies—well here is a recipe for chocolate-chip ice cream that will leave your family sighing with satisfaction.

Empty package of ice cream mix in bowl. Follow directions on package. After first half hour of freezing, stir and add chocolate chips. Continue freezing—and don't even think it isn't good.

Bustle plans in town Saturday morning was the day market where fresh vegetables were selling.

Highest loom was for tomatoes, celery, cabbage and cauliflower plants—not to mention cucumbers. More people than ever are growing their own.

Tinned sausages are a mighty fine thing to have on your pantry shelf in case of emergencies—only cost 42 cents a tin.

Coupled with creamy scrambled eggs—or served with asparagus—or served with spaghetti and tomato sauce—they round out the quick-as-a-flash meal to perfection.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—
Parents, Teen-Agers
Clash Over Rights

When parents and their adolescent children clash, as they do on practically everything under the sun, the retort of the youngsters is: "It's my life. I've got a right to do with it what I please." Which they consider an irrefutable argument that settles the matter.

But father and mother think otherwise. They feel that their offspring belong to them, body and soul, and that they are licensed to control their every act, and to force their every taste and opinion and habit upon their teen-agers.

And this clash of opinions, which is a civil war that goes on from generation after generation, is one of the pathetic problems in life for which no one has ever found the solution.

For youth is youth and age is age, and not once in a blue moon do the two see eye to eye.

Of course, when fallow boys and girls assert their independence and their right to their own lives, they talk nonsense. No one is free to follow his own impulses.

No one alone pays the bill for his own folly or wrongdoing. We are all bound on the same rope, and we stand or fall together.

When Mary stole snatched up in an automobile and drove off, she would go out with a drunken boy she doesn't suffer at all.

It is the mother and father who bear the brunt of the mischief. A headstrong girl would be a headstrong girl.

And if parents think they have a right to do with their teen-agers' lives and cut them according to their own inner pattern, they make as great an error as do foolish girls and boys who think they have a right to live as they please.

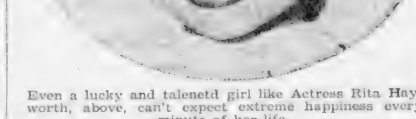

It can't be done successfully, because every child who comes into the world has a different identity and must develop along its own line, and if Mom and Dad interfere much, they only miss things up.

WHY GROW OLD
Emotional Ups, Downs
Follow Nature's Cycle

By Josephine Lowman

Got THE DUMPS? Everyone meets them on some dark day, and most of us encounter them on quite a few days during the year. Why did you feel wonderful yesterday, when the yourself lower today than the ground a worm digs in?

The world is much the same but you have suddenly changed!

Why? Well, nature runs in cycles: in ups and downs. We are full of energy and then at low ebb. We could not stand the spotlight of keen enthusiasm and happiness all of the time. We would probably blow up! Nature provides us with the same.

Also, your physical condition has a great influence on your outlook. Perhaps you have just slept, or maybe it is the time of month when you, as a woman, are somewhat off balance.

If your blue days continue and are a pattern of life rather than incidental, then you should seriously investigate the possibility of being a victim of nervous exhaustion or poor health.

If your pattern is normal, namely, if you feel well and happy most of the time but experience a few days of deep depression, the only danger is that you may take them too seriously. Who are you? Superman? Must you feel in fine fettle all of the time?

I know, because I am one of them, that even morose optimists have times of great depression, when the world is seemingly glummed by a fog of darkened glasses. At these times laugh it off. Do not take yourself too seriously! Do not make important decisions or write important letters at these times. Remember—"It will pass."

If it does not leave you then there must be something drastically wrong with your health, with the amount of sleep you get, the food you eat, the relaxation you indulge in, or with your living surroundings which may frustrate you in spite of yourself.

If this is true, do something about it. Nervous exhaustion, just the condition of being terribly tired and of putting out more energy than you recuperate. Investigate your life intelligently.

If you wish to have my leaflet about building energy, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 56 "P.P." to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Preventable Accidents
Harm Innocent Children

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

It is appalling that innocents must suffer for the lack of imagination of their parents. To read the daily recital of horrors in the newspaper is to marvel at the chances parents take with Fate.

Enbines, of two and three, wandering out on a busy, one-way thoroughfare, with nary a parent in sight. A motorcycle policeman scooped up two such tots and returned them to what was no doubt a surprised mother.

And what of the pans and tubs of boiling water where a baby's hand can grasp the handle and tip it from the stove, or he can fall into the latter on the basement floor? And what of the children whose tender arms are engulfed by electric wringers, or whose eyes are gouged out by falls on pointed toys or scissors? If a parent can't be responsible for making our mechanized civilization, she should take off her blinkers. She is responsible to hear the responsibility, themselves.

Mothers who think I am unduly pessimistic are engaged by their children and rated, play rooms or enclosed porches or fenced-in yards, all ways which small investigative hands cannot loosen. Then they must measure these against the possible costs of unhindered freedom and determine which is the better plan. One must take it for granted that busy mothers do not have even a hour a day to spend watching the active child's every move. And unless they have, or can employ a watcher who have to compromise by putting the child where he can be free to play, to move about, to be engaged with safe toys and not menaced by the dangerous utensils or other possible hazards of his environment.

Even in such relatively safe places the mother must note if there are further "preventable" dangers. Can he fall on a toy so that its long handle may penetrate a nostril? Can he climb on toys and fall over the edge of the pen or state?

Are there drawers in dresser or chiffonier on which he can climb in perilous fashion, pitching the furniture over upon him? Is he able to reach knives or scissors, or what may prove to be actual medicines in the bathroom cabinet?

It is the obligation of parents to look at the environment with suspicious eyes and determine in what way the child may use it to his own detriment. A mother cannot depend upon Fate, or punishment or rebuke—or her child may join the army of innocents who go to their death by preventable accident.

Our leaflet No. 60, "Common Childhood Fears," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Even with refrigerator space at a premium it is advisable to make room for bread if you haven't a regular bread-baker. Cold keeps it fresh for several weeks and prevents moulding.

OTTAWA, May 22.—(CP)—The Commons last night gave third readings to three minor bills sponsored by private members for private organizations.

One of the bills incorporates the Canadian veterinary medical association and another the Canadian Association of Optometrists. A third changes the name of the "Ruthenian Catholic mission of the Order of Saint Basil the Great in Canada" to "The Order of Saint Basil the Great in Canada."

Magistrate at 81
Once Suffragette

MELBOURNE, May 21.—(CP)—An English suffragette who in her youth served several prison sentences in England for militant feminist activities, has achieved the status of a children's court magistrate in Australia.

She is Mrs. Jennie Holmes, 81. One of the original suffragettes led by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, Mrs. Holmes is living with her husband at Melbourne's Garden City on a state housing commission estate—the first home they have had to themselves in 34 years of married life.

Born in Birmingham, England, she worked with her mother in a factory at the age of 10. Their combined wages were less than $2 a week.

FIRST: A PLACE TO CALL YOUR HOME

WISHFUL THINKING: It'll be many a moon before Jim Wythe and Vivian Riley will have their own little bungalow. But there's no harm in making plans. Jim and Viv will be married at Holy Trinity Church, May 29.

... THEN THERE'S THE WEDDING GOWN TO CONSIDER

FLEXIBLE MIND: It's a hard thing for a girl to decide whether to have a white wedding or not. This lustrous, creamy satin and net gown appeals to Dorothy Christmas, whose marriage to Gordon Charney will take place June 9. The gown featuring a draped cowl neckline is worn with matching net and satin mittens.

MUSTN'T FORGET LINENS . . .

FOR THE HAPPY HOME: Margaret Allen is busy as a bee buying those last few linens and what-nots before she marries William Powell on June 12. Mrs. B. Dickson is displaying the wares.

REQUEST THE HONOR OF YOUR PRESENCE . . .

NEXT ON THE LIST: Addressing wedding invitations has kept Bonnie Jones a busy gal, but she's finally finished. She and Ralph Loder will be married at Robertson United Church June 12.

Happy Is the Bride Who Follows Graciously Time-Hallowed Customs

Happy is the bride who bows gracefully to the quaint customs and time-honored conventions associated with weddings.

Ancient symbolism and tradition of the centuries has been retained. There are so many points to consider—even those well-versed in the world of manners sometimes hesitate at what to do—and what not to do.

Little things—such as the question of addressing the wedding gifts.

All gifts, including personal gifts to the bridegroom, are addressed to the bride at her home.

No gifts should arrive on the day of the wedding and all gifts are to be acknowledged by hand—preferably the day they are received.

"Family" are kindest when they mention the outlay they wish to make before asking the bride and bridegroom to suggest what gift they would appreciate.

Flowers spread an aura of fragrant beauty. Theirs is an important role at a wedding. They gather up the movement and color and blend the whole into a worthy setting for the bride.

It is customary for the family of the bride to have the florist provide the decorations for the church and reception rooms as well as the flowers to be carried by the bride's attendant.

The bridegroom orders flowers for the bride, boutonnières for the best man and ushers and corsages for his own and his bride's mother.

ALL THE BREATH-TAKINGLY BEAUTIFUL GIFTS . . .

MMMM . . . LOOK AT THIS: Silver, linen, chinaware, towels, crystal—everything to outfit a newly-wed's home. Beryl Swingle, almost lost in a mound of tissue paper, has barrels of fun opening her wedding gifts. Beryl is to be married to Dr. Murray Cowan in Christ Anglican Church, May 26.

DR. H. BROCK ARMSTRONG and his fiancée, Gene Doris Noble, whose engagement has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Noble of Edmonton, Dr. Armstrong, only son of Mrs. P. Edgar Armstrong of Edmonton, and the late Rev. Armstrong, is a graduate of the University of Alberta and since his discharge from the RCAMC has been doing post-graduate work in pediatrics. Miss Noble is a graduate of the Royal Alexandra hospital school of nursing. The wedding will take place in First Presbyterian Church June 16 at 7 p.m.

Irene King Bride At Anglican Church

Spring flowers banked the altar in St. Faith's Anglican Church recently when Irene Phyllis King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack King of Edmonton, became the bride of Nicholas Krook, son of Mrs. Mary Krook and the late K. Krook of Edmonton.

Rev. L. M. Watts officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a gown of ivory satin, the fitted bodice styled with a yoke of nylon and cinched with a three-tier wedding veil caught up at the shoulders with pearls. Three satin bows gathered over the skirt showing an underskirt of lace. A bandeau of pearls held her floor-length veil to her head and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Doreen King was her sister, bridesmaid. She wore a navy dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Use of Jump Bid For Suit Controls

By William E. McKenney

Sometimes the failure of the opponents to bid makes it more difficult to get into the right contract. However, that did not prevent Mr. and Mrs. Howard Zacks of New York City from arriving at a grand dan contract in hearts on today's hand. Mr. and Mrs. Zacks recently won the Eastern States team of four championship with Charles H. Sanders and Jack L. Goshing.

Mrs. Zacks (South) had the type of hand on which most experts like to open the bidding. Probably many West players would overcall with one spade, but when the hand was played in the Eastern States tournament, West passed. Zacks in the North then bid two hearts. With most players the jump bid of two is a deliberate slam try, but the Zacks use this bid to call for suit controls immediately.

Preferably, when East came in with a one-suited bid and Mrs. Zacks had three hearts, she denied the ace of spades. With the jump forcing bid by her partner a demand for controls, if she had held the ace of spades or was void in that suit, she would have bid three spades.

It was now easy for North to announce that the three-heart bid showed strong support in hearts and the ace and king of diamonds. Otherwise, what would justify an original bid vulnerable and now a free raise? So he decided that there was no need for further bidding and went to seven hearts.

There was no play in the hand, as Zacks ruffed the opening spade lead and took three rounds of trumps.

Mrs. Zacks won the match, as their opponents at the other table stopped at six clubs. They made seven but, of course, lost the match.

Methodism Grows In Russian Zone

By William E. McKenney

BERLIN, May 22.—Methodism is flourishing in Germany as never before, with more progress in the Russian-occupation zone than in any other part of the country.

This is the consensus of Methodist leaders here, who point to a hundred per cent increase in Sunday school work since the war's end as one outstanding indication of the denomination's progress.

Chicago Minister Goes to Switzerland

By William E. McKenney

CHICAGO—The Rev. Robert P. Egan of Chicago, field representative of Youth for Christ International, left here by jet plane for Switzerland where he will complete details for a World Congress on Evangelism at Healdsburg Aug. 13-22.

The Congress, sponsored by Youth for Christ, is expected to attract 500 delegates from 40 countries.

Zacks bid three hearts, she denied the ace of spades. With the jump forcing bid by her partner a demand for controls, if she had held the ace of spades or was void in that suit, she would have bid three spades.

It was now easy for North to announce that the three-heart bid showed strong support in hearts and the ace and king of diamonds. Otherwise, what would justify an original bid vulnerable and now a free raise? So he decided that there was no need for further bidding and went to seven hearts.

Good Thinning System May Double Garden Harvest

Thin out excess plants gradually, and allow the best plants to live, using discards for table when possible.

When the beginner in gardening has sown seed and rejoiced in the quick appearance of numerous sturdy seedlings, his very pride in accomplishment may cause a failure of a crop.

With rare exceptions, he has started too many seedlings for the space available to them. Some of them must be sacrificed so the others may thrive. The thought of destroying the plants he is so proud of is naturally unpleasant.

Too often this task is shirked and the plants engage in a struggle for existence which prevents the normal maturity of any.

There is no satisfactory way to avoid thinning. It can be reduced by sowing thinly, but the hazards of seed germination are so great that allowance must be made for the failure of some, by sowing two or three times as many seeds as there is room to mature.

When too many come up, be thankful and consider the thinning out as an opportunity to select the best plants as the ones to survive.

For best results, thinning should be done gradually. In case of a crop which grows best when the plants stand four inches apart, do not at first thin it to one plant in each four inches. There are two reasons for this.

First many vegetables, such as carrots and beets, are most delicious when half mature. By thinning at first only enough to insure that each stands well alone in the row, and then allowing them to grow a while, many will soon reach the stage when they can be harvested for the table.

Second, it is foolish to discard all excess plants prematurely when accidents, insects or disease may destroy many which are left. If thinning is done by stages in the plants grow, they will finally stand at the optimum distance from each other and there will be small chance of vacant spaces in the row.

Lettuce plants thinned to stand inch apart, will soon reach a stage when alternate plants can be removed to make a salad; and this process may be continued until the spacing is right for the remaining plants to mature.

Carrots may be thinned the first time when they are as thick as a pencil, and a dish of the thinnings will give those who like to have eaten such tiny carrots before a new idea of this vegetable.

Beets may be allowed to grow until about six inches tall, when their roots have just begun to swell. If thinned out at this stage, the thinnings should be cooked roots and tops together, for a delicious dish.

Opposition Raps Dominion Budget

Two Leaders Call for Votes Of No-Confidence in Govt.

By D'Arcy O'Donnell

OTTAWA, May 22.—(CP)—Spokesmen for the three opposition parties in the Commons yesterday criticized the government for not providing more tax relief in the 1948-49 budget. Two of the speakers backed up their criticism with demands for votes of non-confidence in the Liberal administration.

J. M. Macdonnell, chief financial critic for the Progressive Conservatives, launched the attack on the budget, brought down Tuesday night by Finance Minister Abbott. He said income tax exemptions should have been raised by an amount equivalent to the year's increase in the cost of living, and small companies given some tax exemption on money which they invest in the business.

Macdonnell, who represents Muskoka, Ontario, concluded his speech with a motion asking the house to express opinion that "this government does not possess the confidence of the country."

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, followed with another motion of non-confidence. Solon Low, Social Credit leader, was prevented by house rules from moving a similar motion at this stage of the debate.

Coldwell's reasons:

1—He said the government is building up a huge surplus at the expense of people in the low-income bracket. The house to vote non-confidence in the government because:

1—It had not increased income tax exemptions from $750 to $1,200 for single persons and from $1,500 to $2,000 for married persons.

2—It had not reduced the burden of sales and excise taxes, which bore most heavily on the low-income bracket.

3—It had failed to establish a public investment board to control industrial expansion.

Low's suggestions:

Low, who made a series of suggestions for handling the country's finances, said income tax exemptions should be raised to $1,000 for single persons and $2,400 for married persons. The tax on incomes above $2,000 should be set on a rising scale starting at 40 per cent. Corporations, he said, should be given an exemption of 10 per cent of their incomes, with the tax on incomes above 10 per cent ranging from 60 to 80 per cent.

Just before the dinner adjournment at 6 p.m. the budget debate was set aside and consideration of agriculture department estimates began.

Hunting of Caribou Banned For This Year

Hunting of caribou in Alberta will not be permitted this year.

New big game regulations approved by the order-in-council passed by the Alberta cabinet this week also restricts the season for the hunting of other game animals.

Season on deer, grouse and elk has been cut. This year it will extend from Nov. 1 to Nov. 30. Last year the season started on Nov. 1 but did not end until Dec. 15.

Season for hunting of mountain sheep and mountain goats has been cut in half. A year ago it covered both October and November, but this year it is held down to only the month of October.

SPECIAL AREAS

E. S. Huettli, fish and game commissioner, said Friday these were the most important changes in the game act from previous years, though "special areas" have been somewhat restricted.

Bag limits have been set for most of the province, as one male mountain sheep, one male or female mountain goat, a male deer, a male elk or a male moose, one grizzly bear and one black brown or cinnamon bear. In the case of house finches with clubs are protected.

Exceptions are made in certain areas of the province to some of the regulations.

In general the season for bear is from September 1 to December 1 and from April 1 to June 4.

Small Homes of Originality

Plan 1, With Bathroom. Plan 2, With Bathroom.

The Colonial Bungalow will always have a good following and particularly a home like this design, combining as it does taste with practicality at low cost. The floor plan is a splendid one with sleeping quarters well segregated, a large kitchen and ample space for dining.

The Edmonton Bulletin's new, modern house booklet "SMALL HOMES OF ORIGINALITY" is available by mail, postage paid $1.00—or at the Bulletin Office.

Fire Hazards Begin In Spring

Summer fire prevention begins as soon as the snow leaves the ground, according to James McIsaac, chief of fire prevention in Canada's largest city. Spring fires in grass and weeds take a heavy toll annually and unless homes in the vicinity of such a fire are protected with asphalt shingles or some other fire-resistant material, they are vulnerable to destruction by flying embers. One of the first jobs for the far-seeing homeowner, McIsaac says, is to clear rubbish and debris from his property. By doing this he removes one of the great fire hazards of the Spring season.

EARLY SPRING FIRES

So great is the danger from these early Spring fires that some municipalities demand that any new or renewed construction must employ fire-resistant materials. Fences, sheds and barns are particularly vulnerable and care should be taken not to leave oily rags about such premises. Dead stalks and brush from the garden should be removed and burned only under supervision. Here again many municipalities take the precaution of not allowing anyone to burn rubbish unless a permit has been secured from authorities.

Another fire hazard, particularly in country districts, according to McIsaac, is faulty construction or improper materials in chimneys. Brick or tile should be used and the chimney should be built on two-brick thickness from the foundation through the first story.

Rural homes should also be equipped with a good 50 or 100 foot length of sound garden hose or a reliable fire extinguisher approved by underwriters.

All cucumbers will climb if they are permitted to do so. In a small vegetable plot, cucumbers, tomatoes, peas, beans and melons can be grown on the fence.

Home Landscape Most Important

Plans Should Be Considered Before Commencing Any Work

By Bert Nightingale

Purporting to be a thesis on the "rights" and "wrongs" of going about the landscaping of a new home, this could be entitled rather "I hate to be outside on a nice warm day" or "I learned about gardening from 'er."

"Er" in this case being not so much the senile, stinky type of tomato referred to in the song paraphrased above, as a much more practical (albeit equally romantic) Better Half.

WOMEN LANDSCAPERS

Women, for some reason or other, possibly dating back to the passage made at an apple by one Eve, are peculiarly adapted to the art of landscaping.

Give the average young married female a new home surrounded by hills of uprooted soil, unmanured scrub bushes and an unbelievable quantity of quack grass and she can conjure up visions of the type of garden rarely seen outside the fashionable New York magazines.

On the other hand, it is the weary husband who is given the job of making these dreams real. The fact that the finished product looks no more like the wife's idea of lovely grounds than the husband looks like a gardener, is due not so much to the dream being over-grandiose, as to the lack of planning on the part of the poor guy who does the spade work.

SOUNDS SIMPLE

The grounds of the average home consist principally of a vegetable garden at the back and a lawn at the front. Well, that's simple enough. Hire somebody to possess a bulldozer and level out the hills and dells left by the builders without setting out any specified route, the board's council decided today.

However, the board will send three delegates to the Nelson, B.C. conference May 28, when representatives of the four western provinces will meet to lay plans for a southern route through the west.

An Ontario-Nelson motorcade has left Brandon, Man., for the B.C. centre, and will be joined by delegates from Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The conference will discuss a proposed route running through Brandon, Regina, Medicine Hat, Alta. Lethbridge, Macleod, Pincher Creek and Nelson.

Without sitting down quietly (preferably with a glass of cool and bubbly while the wife is playing bridge somewhere) you can't hope to have a properly set up lot.

There are points to consider other than speed. For instance, the size of your family and its tastes in vegetable eating should determine how much space you want to devote to a garden. If you have a wife and two infant children—and assuming you aren't continually being visited by hungry relatives, it is hardly necessary to dig up the entire back of the house.

Chances are you'll end up with a whopping mound of carrots, peas, lettuce, et al. all of which will be soggy and unstable long before you get around to using it.

HALF IS SUFFICIENT

Half the area would probably be quite sufficient—and would leave space for a backyard lawn. Which, in addition to making for pleasant evenings on lawn furniture, is much easier to care for than a mammoth garden. (With a lawn you throw the odd quart of water on it, cut the lot inch of growth off and that's it.)

Then, still considering the back yard, there's the question of a fence. An expensive proposition not to be undertaken unless you decide against a fence, you might consider shrubs. That's what I did. I planted raspberry canes along the back and sides of the lot. That was two years ago. By the Grace of Lady Luck, the canes multiplied full richly, so that now I have a hedge that by its very nature should be trimmed. (Why try to better the works of what comes naturally?) and which is thick enough to enclose my plot by a most satisfactory manner.

It is wise too, if you haven't already got one, to lay out your plans with a view to the possibility of having a car at some future date. That means a garage . . . so don't be planting a lot of expensive shrubs at the exact place where a garage will have to go and the shrubs will have to be trimmed up.

A lawn, according to present-day concepts, is pretty well a "must" at the front of the house.

Again there's the question of a fence. It is quite feasible to fence in the front of the house and not the back—and this of course cuts your fencing expenses. Most types of fencing are now available in Edmonton, from pickets to various wire types. In fact, one local company advises that ready-made picket fences are available in various lengths and sizes.

If a hedge is your choice, be careful that you choose the one you want. There are any number of different kinds and one of the local seed-houses should be consulted before you start putting money into any variety that may be a head-ache until you eventually tear it out.

Flower beds at the front are advisable—their color, perfume, etc., have all been lauded elsewhere. (See Tennyson, Keats, and such.) But here again, be careful that you know where you're going before you start to dig. Many a flower bed in Edmonton loses its greatest appeal because of its placement in relation to the rest of the grounds and the house.

DON'T OVERDO LANDSCAPING. Above all, don't overdo this business of landscaping. You've seen houses where the proud owner, a handy type, has spent every free hour "linking around." He's got purple shutters, and every window is creeping vines dangling from every wall, trees, shrubs and plants in every corner and across the center—cute, I'll white fences around the base of each tree and shrub, animal cut-outs covering the flowerbeds, bird-houses plunked here and there—the result? Worse than a three-ring circus in a cyclone.

Simplicity is the trend in modern design everywhere. This applies equally to landscaping. Do the job well, take your time, plan carefully—and recognize the limitations imposed by your surroundings.

Letter still, pick up the phone and call the nearest professional landscape artist. Most of them are pleased to look over your property and offer their suggestions.

BIG, BAD BANDIT NOT TOO TOUGH

BIRMINGHAM, England, May 22.—(AP)—Irene Miller, Miss Jane Underhill, 57, told a court that she sat petrified while a holdup man threatened her with a knife and ransacked her home.

"Just," she added, "he suddenly turned to me and said: 'I am just as frightened as you are, really.'"

There was a thud in the dock, James Leslie, 34, accused of the holdup, had fainted.

Danger From High Winds

High winds of March and April this country good insofar as home owners are concerned. Worn or insecure nailed flashings of eaves may offer an opening for the wind to enter under them and eventually tear loose large sections by its gusty forces. If eave gutters are insecure they may be blown loose, lifting the edge of the roof covering with them. Even a small defect caused by the wind, can allow water to penetrate beneath shingles and other covering, rot the roof deck, and eventually cause interior damage to walls and ceilings.

Experts point out that the high winds, normally coming in Spring, strike roofs at the time when they may already have been strained by successive winters of snow and ice.

SAFETY STRESSED
Training schools for apprentices, contractors, and manufacturers of roofing supplies lay stress on the importance of properly securing all flashings, hips, and gutters. In order to protect home owners from loss where they are going before they start to dig. Many a flower bed in Edmonton loses its greatest appeal because of its placement in relation to the rest of the grounds and the house.

Locusts Threaten Guatemala Corn Crop

GUATEMALA, Guatemala, May 22.—(AP)—Vast swarms of locusts have invaded Guatemala and threaten Mexico, the director general of agriculture said yesterday. The locusts ate their way through El Salvador, Honduras and Nicaragua. The director said they probably would devour more than a third of the Guatemala corn crop.

War Amps Again Offer Metal Key Replica

Canadian motorists will be pleased to learn that the war amps will again issue miniature license tags. This year nearly a million passenger car owners will have the opportunity of purchasing small metal key-tag replica of their license plates.

The miniature tags, first offered to some 500,000 motorists in 1946 by the War Amputations of Canada—were well received. As a result, an increased number were sent out last year and were similar accepted.

Tags will be mailed to almost a million motorists in 1948. The cost for a tag, 25 cents. Devised by the War Amps as a means of raising funds without making a charitable appeal, the plan has been extended year after year.

In 1947 the tags were mailed to most car owners in Ontario, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Alberta and part of British Columbia.

This year it is intended to "cover" all motorists in Canada. The automobile key tags have proved popular with motorists because they help make it easy to remember the car license number. They are returned to the war amps, identified and returned to the owner, postage paid.

Since its inception, the war amps have returned 82 keys to motorists in Canada.

Because of the shortage of Canadian machinery, the miniature plates are now made in the United States by members of the Disabled American Veterans, but will eventually be manufactured in Canada.

Canada's amputees benefit by all tags sold in the Dominion. In U.S.A. more than 100,000,000 tags have been distributed.

The funds received from the sale of the tags are used to assist veterans "who have lost a limb or limbs in the cause of freedom."

Funds raised in this way by the Canadian association help to meet the specialized recreational and other needs of war amputees throughout the Dominion.

Although the cost of tag production is increasing, it is hoped that wider distribution of tags in 1948 will bring much needed funds to the amputees.

When you recel • the tag replica of your license plate forward your donation to the war amps, remembering that it will aid those who lost a limb fighting for freedom.

Happy Holiday Requires Plans

Seasoned Travellers Offer Many Helpful Hints

Motorists who do a lot of travelling claim that extra enjoyment on a holiday is "advanced planning."

And their reasoning is sound. A trip planned beforehand is more apt to have everything run smoothly.

A motor tune-up and overall check on your car is most essential if you are to "enjoy" that trip to the lake or country rendezvous. Stagnant car operation can cause many a "motorist headache." So to insure abstinence from the "aspic" take your car today to your motor dealer or service station and have him check your car thoroughly.

Perhaps you need transmission grease . . . maybe your car oil needs changing . . . there might be a broken spring or bolt missing of which you are unaware. Little oversights on your part can be spotted immediately by your garage mechanic.

Don't fail to have the car gone over thoroughly before taking off on that holiday trip.

Here are some suggestions that seasoned travellers offer.

1. Have your car checked and made ready for the extra miles you'll be driving.

2. Write for reservations well in advance—even if you only plan to stay a couple of days at each summer resort or centre.

3. Pack carefully, making sure that items you'll need most frequently are easy to reach.

Bottles and other breakables should be given special handling so their contents will not damage clothing.

4. Keep the list of clothing and equipment you made earlier in order to double-check when repacking for the homeward trip.

5. Contact travel bureaus or government agencies for maps and other travel literature. The booklets and folders you'll receive will suggest many places at which to stay or visit during your holiday.

6. At the first sound of trouble, drive your car to the nearest garage and have the trouble spots attended to.

ROBINS TRIUMPH IN THIS DEBATE

AYERHILL PARK, N.Y., May 22.—(AP)—For weeks the Edward Hoffas engaged in a running "argument" with a pair of scolding robins building a nest on their front porch.

Today the Hoffas lost the debate. The robins were raising a family of four.

The Hoffas used the back door.

Newfoundland Already Voting On Future Status

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 22.—(CP)—Returning officers along Newfoundland's coast line yesterday reported "fairly heavy" advance polling by fishermen, seamen and others who will be away June 3 when citizens vote in a referendum for a future form of government.

Advance balloting started Thursday and will continue until regular polling day.

The three choices on the ballot are re-establishment of responsible government, retention of government by commission, or confederation with Canada and provincial status.

Marriages Show Drop During 1947

OTTAWA, May 22.—(CP)—There were fewer marriages but more deaths in Canada during 1947, the dominion bureau of statistics reported yesterday.

A total of 116,523 persons died last year, compared with 114,931 in 1946.

Marriages dropped from 134,088 in 1946 to 127,108 last year.

Daily Check of Tires Gives Longer Life

Have you developed the habit of always glancing at your tires before getting into your car?

It's a good way to spot a flat tire or one that is visibly soft.

On rough roads it isn't always easy to know from the way the car performs that the tire is soft.

Too, it's a specially good way of getting full mileage from your tires because under-inflation is a common cause of excessive tire wear.

Even as little as five pounds continuous under-inflation can reduce tire life by as much as 32 per cent. Habitually carrying too little air can cut tire mileage by 50 per cent.

But while too little air in the tires is a prime cause of wear, over-inflation can also result in rapid tire-tread.

In such cases the entire load is concentrated on the centre strip of the tire, wearing down the middle tread.

If you do a lot of driving daily, a check on the car tires at least once a day isn't too often.

Spare tires should be checked at least once a week without fail. Remember also that improperly inflated tires often cause serious accidents.

These traffic mishaps could be prevented with a little extra care on your part.

Don't forget that a minute spent checking your tires daily might prevent a possible accident that could cause a traffic death.

Check your tires today—ensure longer wear—and avoid accidents.

U.S. Navy To Sink Famous Cruiser

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 22.—(AP)—The cruiser Salt Lake City, survivor of 31 war engagements and the Bikini atom bombs, will end its career Tuesday as a target for warship guns, aerial bombs and submarine torpedoes. About 25 ships will take part in the action off the southern California coast.

These traffic mishaps could be prevented with a little extra care on your part.

Govt. Wins Suit Against Indians

Six Nations Tribe Lose Out In Million Dollar Claim

OTTAWA, May 22.—(CP)—The government won an exchequer court decision yesterday over its wards, the Six Nations Indians, in a suit involving $1,289,000.

The Indian claim was a long-delayed outgrowth of lands and money owned by the tribes early in the 19th century, during the building of the Grand river and Welland canals.

Frank Miller, chief councillor of the Six Nations of the Grand river, on his own behalf and that of the Six Nations, by petition of right claimed damages from the crown for breach of trust.

Yesterday Mr. Justice C. G. O'Connor of exchequer court gave judgment that there are no grounds for a petition of right against the Crown in the Indians' case.

DEED TO INDIANS

The lands involved formed part of a vast tract of 1,500 square miles along the banks of Ontario's Grand river. They were deeded to the Indians by royal charter in 1784 in appreciation for the red warrior's fidelity to King George II during the American Revolution.

Some of the Indians' property was handed over for canal-building. Other portions were flooded. A cash sum of $150,000 from tribal funds was invested in the Grand River Navigation Company, all of which was lost when the company collapsed.

The Indians claimed in the action the Upper Canadian government was involved in trusteeship, and that its responsibility now had devolved on the present federal government.

For the lands and monies lost through these actions, the present-day inhabitants of the Oshweken reserve near Brantford, Ont., sought full compensation and interest at five per cent for more than a century. The interest charges formed the bulk of the claims.

Early in January, the exchequer court heard an argument on questions of law, to determine whether there was legal justification for an actual trial of the case. Yesterday's decision was on that argument.

Merits Considered Of Parking Meters

Members of the utilities committee of city council Thursday considered the merits of two types of parking meters for installation in Edmonton but no preference was expressed at the meeting.

Jack Cameron, Montreal, president of Mi-Co Meter Canada Ltd., explained the manual type meter, and A. M. Shoules, Calgary, representing the Dual Parking Meter Ltd., demonstrated the automatic type.

Ross Rodger and N. C. Campbell are the local representatives of the companies.

Both representatives told committee members that installation of meters could be effected in 30 days from date of order.

Donald McKay, executive secretary, Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, recommended that before meters were installed that the city undertake an educational program. Commissioner Hodgson said this was being done.

He also urged provision for off-street parking, and asked that the city provide free parking accommodation from the revenue derived from parking meters.

Edmonton Officer Goes To Kingston

Lieut.-Col. R. A. Keane, DSO, acting chief of staff at headquarters, Western Command, left Edmonton Thursday night for Kingston, Ont. He will be one of a group of senior officers from various points in Canada who are going to Kingston to mark pre-staff course examination papers.

The courses were written to qualify selected army officers for further entrance to Canadian army staff college at Kingston.

In Western Command, the tests were written last week at the end of five months of study. Twenty-one officers from Edmonton, Calgary, Pacific coast stations and Whitehorse wrote the exams.

Lieut.-Col. Keane will be away from his office here for about three weeks.

Ponoka Man Must Pay Court Fines Or Go To Jail

Harold Kraft, Ponoka, pleaded guilty on three charges in police court today.

For passing a worthless cheque for $10 at the Alberta Treasury branch, April 15, Kraft was fined $20 and costs or 3 months, plus restitution.

For theft of a blowtorch he was given an additional $20 and costs or 3 months.

On another false pretences charge in March at Ponoka, Kraft received another $20 and costs or 4 months.

Directors Named For Govt. Company

Appointment of a board of directors for the Alberta General Insurance company was announced Friday by Hon. A. J. Hooke, Alberta minister of economic affairs.

The insurance company was set up by special legislation passed at the 1948 session of the Alberta legislature, which created two crown insurance companies and took the direct operation of the businesses from the hands of the government.

R. W. Danby, manager of the general insurance company was appointed chairman of the board of directors. R. H. Moore, deputy minister of economic affairs and J. E. Hart, solicitor with the attorney-general's department, were also made board members.

Announcement of the names of the board of directors of the Life Insurance Company of Alberta headed by M. R. Marvin was made some weeks ago by Mr. Hooke.

No Details Yet On Insurance Plan

Provincial health authorities will have no details of federal government health insurance plans until after a meeting to be called by Health Minister Paul Martin of Ottawa.

Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, Alberta minister of health, said the meeting to discuss the federal government's proposal was not expected until the estimates to provide for the services had been approved by the House of Commons.

"That may take a month yet," Dr. Cross said.

He was commenting on a Calgary announcement that the city council there are seeking information on the type of grant to aid them in the construction of a new hospital projected here.

"We won't be able to tell Calgary anything until after the meeting in Ottawa," Dr. Cross said.
